Crisis Reported Near In Naval Limitation Talks

DELEGATES WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

United States and British Representatives Will Discuss Fate of Parley

JAPAN MAKES THREAT

Will Build Ships of Any Type Desired if Denied Equality With America

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Extension of the London Naval conference to the political field was seen today in announcement of plans for a meeting of United States and British representatives on Friday.

With the naval negotiations at a crisis, it was disclosed that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, representing Britain, and Norman Davis and Ray Atherton, representing the United States, would consider at 10 a. m. Friday, without the naval experts being present.

This was construed as confirmation of belief that the conversations are covering the political as well as the naval field.

Earlier today, Simon conferred with Tameo Matsudaira, representing Japan, on critical phases of the conference, at which Japan has demanded a greater degree of naval equality with Britain and the United States.

After the conference, it was said, the British were "slightly less pessimistic" as to the outcome. The negotiations have not yet broken down on any point, but no definite solution is in sight. Further discussions will be necessary, a spokesman said.

It was confirmed in usually authoritative sources that the question of a new session pact has been broached during the conversations, but it has not yet played an important part in the discussions.

Simon came from a cabinet meeting which considered the naval situation in the light of an expected firm Japanese demand for naval equality and United States refusal to concede it.

ROOSEVELT GIVES CONSENT FOR BALL

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 21.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today gave his consent for a second nationwide birthday ball next January for the purpose of raising funds to fight infantile paralysis.

The decision was reached after a conference with the trustees of the Warm Springs Foundation, who, with Mr. Roosevelt, considered the offer of Henry L. Doherty, chairman of last year's ball, to sponsor another one.

The money raised will be divided 50 per cent for distribution to localities for the fight of infantile paralysis and 30 per cent for research work. Nine per cent of the funds will be devoted to the Warm Springs Foundation, it was explained. Last year slightly more than $1,000,000 was obtained from the proceeds of birthday balls in all parts of the country.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Federal judge John P. Barnes today ruled that the federal milk licensing code is invalid because of "lack of authority of the Secretary of Agriculture and Congress to regulate the production of milk. He held the code was unconstitutional.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew today signed orders granting custody of 10-year-old Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt to her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. The justice ruled the child was to be given to her mother, Mrs. Vanderbilt, at 10 a. m. every Saturday and returned to her paternal aunt by sundown Sunday.

DUKE OF KENT GREET BRIDE-ELECT AT PIER

Princess Marina of Greece is Welcomed to London for Her Wedding

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The Duke of Kent, youngest son of the King, welcomed to the pier-bound England today his bride-to-be, Princess Marina of Greece.

Despite the dismal setting of fog, it was a happy reunion of the young couple on the quay at Dover. The prince was buoyant and affectionate and the princess smiling happily.

The princess and her party were welcomed to England by the blare of foghorns off Dover. She waved smilingly from the ship to the Duke of Kent, who appeared pale and nervous.

When the steamer docked, the Duke first kissed Princess Nicholas, mother of the bride-to-be. The duke kissed Princess Nicholas on the cheek and then the hand. Next he put his right arm affectionately around Marina's shoulder and kissed her heartily on both cheeks, incidentally disclosing his pet name for her—Mara.

Then he shook hands with the other members of the party, Prince Nicholas and Marina's two sisters, Princess Paul and Countess Tœrring.

Princess Marina wore a beige overcoat and a saucy little hat cocked sideways. The Duke of Kent was in morning clothes. The party was welcomed officially by the mayor and boarded the train for London immediately.

Through the closed windows of the car, Princess Marina kept waving to a cheering crowd of 500 which milled around on the roped-off platform.

Princess Marina appeared to be suffering from a slight cold. The train was a mass of flowers.

In greeting the princess, the Duke of Kent said: "I do hope your journey has been good. May dear."

DRIVE OPENED IN DRY STATES BY GOVERNMENT

Treasury Seeks to Dry Up Twenty States Having Anti-Liquor Laws

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The treasury began today its biggest liquor enforcement drive since repeal of prohibition. Its goal was drying up of 20 states which still have anti-liquor laws.

The program involved rigid collections of federal taxes in a round-up of thousands of liquor dealers in dry states who have not paid their excise duties in full.

In this manner, the government expects to obtain new revenue and aid dry states in driving out illicit sales of liquor.

Lists of names of suspected persons in the dry areas have been forwarded to local internal revenue collectors, the United Press learned, with orders to collect the taxes or to seek jail sentences.

The drive is being pushed under a 1926 statute, which previously had not been rigidly enforced. It provides that retail liquor dealers must pay a special $1000 annual federal excise tax if they are selling in violation of local or state liquor laws.

In addition, retail dealers must pay a $25 annual occupational tax. Internal revenue authorities have been investigating the situation for several months, it was learned, and the campaign was ordered by the treasury.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO SOLVE PROBLEM

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The federal government concentrated its ace investigators here today in a determined effort to solve the kidnapping of William Weiss, reputed racketeer.

J. Edgar Hoover personally took charge of the investigation. It was announced if the crime was not solved in three days Melvin Purvis, head of the famous "roving squad" would enter the case. Fourteen justice agents from Washington already are on the scene.

Weiss' family lost contact with the abductors when the last ransom note asking for $10,000 went astray due to an incorrect address. Delay in answering the letter might have caused the kidnappers to kill Weiss, some investigators believed.

Princess Marina wore a beige overcoat and a saucy little hat cocked sideways. The Duke of Kent was in morning clothes. The party was welcomed officially by the mayor and boarded the train for London immediately.

Through the closed windows of the car, Princess Marina kept waving to a cheering crowd of 500 which milled around on the roped-off platform.

A. T. & T. DECLARES REGULAR DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Directors of American Telephone and Telegraph company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share, involving a distribution to more than 600,000 stockholders of nearly $42,000,000.

Declaration of the regular payment was a relief to the financial community despite the fact that a majority had anticipated it. Recently the stock had been depressed to 100 1/2, a new low for the year, on announcement of an investigation by the federal communications commission.

Sausage Eating Champion Loses His Bet

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Draculup Iltich, recovering at home today, received congratulations on being the stuffed sausage eating champion of the world, but wondered whether it was all worth while.

At a cafe yesterday Iltich ate 71 large sausages, washing them down with one gallon of wine. He lost a bet that he could eat 80 but was awarded the championship as a consolation prize.

He was going strong at the 50th sausage. At 60 it was taking more frequent gulps of wine to wash the sausages down. At the 68th he was squirming uneasily. At the 70th he was just able to swallow. He choked on the 71st.

LAUNCH DRIVE TO HALT FERA RELIEF WASTE

Supervision of Federal Relief Expenditures Will Be Tightened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—A drive to head off further congressional criticism by tightening up supervision of federal relief expenditures started today.

Officials of the FERA have been instructed to use extra care in dispensing funds so there shall be no fresh cause for denunciations such as those of Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida.

While it has been the contention of the FERA that the funds have been administered consistently with utmost regard for prevention of waste, the instances cited by Borah have resulted in renewed pressure upon this phase of relief activity.

Borah has made it clear that he did not charge the FERA with graft or corruption. He demanded more attention to efficiency, however, and payrolls more in keeping with the relief work actually done.

The way in which relief funds have had to be utilized has prevented the central organization from keeping a close check on expenditures. While still under this handicap, Hopkins and his associates have gone into several situations where waste became apparent.

Combined with this economy drive, officials are working on plans to head off a tendency, apparent in many sections, to refuse relief employment so long as relief funds may be obtained.

Hundreds of incidents have been reported where persons have turned down jobs paying as high as $5.

REPORTERS STRIKE; PAPER NOT PRINTED

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 21.—(UP)—The Newark Ledger did not publish today because of a strike of its editorial employees, sponsored by the Newark Newspaper Guild.

L. T. Russell, publisher, announced the suspension order was not for a specific period. The paper may be published tomorrow "if conditions warrant." The Sunday edition will be published without regard to suspension of the daily edition, he said.

Russell took drastic action because strikers picketed his plant. He announced he would not deal further with the guild, but would accept an arbitration if offered.

To replace the Ledger, the guild today published a four-sheet paper giving local news and news of the strike. Striking reporters covered police headquarters and other news sources.

The Ledger is Newark's only morning newspaper.

RAIN AND SNOW SWEEPING OVER UNITED STATES

Early Winter Brings Damage to Property on Sea and Land Today

(By United Press)

EARLY WINTER rain, snow and windstorms swept the United States today, bringing damage to property on land and disaster to boats on the Great Lakes.

Precipitation of one kind or another was falling today from the East Coast to the Rockies, and a cold wave was predicted for tonight to turn rain into snow and wet streets into dangerous icy thoroughfares.

Poor visibility due to the storm was blamed for a collision in Lake Huron between the steamers Franz and Edward E. Loomis, bringing death to four members of the Franz's crew.

The rain reached cloudburst proportions in the South. At Memphis homes were flooded and property damaged when more than 9 inches of rain fell within 12 hours.

Weather experts said the storm had its center in a low pressure area near Dallas, Texas, from which it spread fan-like into California, Utah and Nevada on the west, northward to Minnesota and eastward to beyond the Alleghenies.

A separate disturbance was reported from Florida, where south-west storm warnings were displayed and winds of gale force anticipated.

MEMPHIS FLOODED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Rain which broke all records here today flooded and marooned homes, endangering the lives of hundreds, tied up traffic and indirectly caused the death of one person.

A total of 9.33 inches had fallen at noon, 16 of an inch over the old record, which was made June 3 and 4, 1877, in a 24-hour period. A total of 9.39 inches fell March 16, 1919.

Most of the rain had fallen since 11 o'clock last night. It was pouring late this morning when U. S. Forecaster F. W. Brist reported that the rain was expected to continue until late tonight.

West winds reaching 34 miles an hour accompanied the early downpours. Trees were uprooted and blown across streets. Roofs were lifted. Water-soaked brick walls collapsed and basements were flooded.

Water flooded some streets to a depth of three feet. Street car service on many lines was disrupted and automobiles were stalled or marooned. Hundreds of persons were late in arriving at work.

Joe Cheney, driver for the city engineering department, dropped dead as he was explaining to friends the great amount of water that had blocked traffic on Market avenue. Excitement brought on death, physicians believed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The prosecution of Samuel Insull and his 16 co-defendants was described in closing defense arguments today as "an attempt to crucify character upon the cross of prejudice."

Charles S. Lounsbury concluded a dynamic plea to the jury hearing mail fraud charges with this dramatic appeal and the further suggestion that the prosecution was undertaken "to appease public clamor."

Whatever may have been the reason for the prosecution, Lounsbury continued, it failed utterly.

20 CHILDREN HURT

SEATTLE, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Two persons were injured critically and 20 school children suffered minor hurts when a school bus and an automobile crashed today.

Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, is the man best fitted to make the party a power in politics again, in Regu's opinion. His task will be to end internal party disputes and co-ordinate a program acceptable to all factions.

Regu praised California Democrats who united with Republicans to defeat Upton Sinclair in the recent California gubernatorial race. He doing they "put the welfare of the state above party regularity," he said.

Second Ship Saves Crew From Water

Steamers Collide in Heavy Fog in Lake Huron in Early Morning

APENA, Mich., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Four lives were lost when the lake freighter W. C. Franz sank today after a collision with the S. S. Edward Loomis in a dense fog 17 miles southeast of Sturgeon Point, in Lake Huron.

The Loomis was damaged badly but was proceeding slowly with rescued members of the Franz crew. She was due to dock at Harbor Beach, Mich., this afternoon. The S. S. Reiss Brothers stood by and aided in the rescue work.

Names of the men lost were not included in the radiogram which told of the collision and the subsequent sinking of the Franz.

First news of the disaster was contained in an SOS call sent out at 2:23 a. m., and picked up by Marconi Radio in New York and lake stations near here.

The Franz was a single screw steamer of 342 tons from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. She was owned by the Algoma Central Steamship line and commanded by Capt. Alexander McIntyre. Her normal crew was 21 men.

The Loomis is a 4279-ton steel screw freighter owned by the Great Lake Transit corporation.

O. K. Taylor, operator at the commercial station at Rogers City who received the SOS calls and the message telling of the sinking of the Franz, continued efforts to recontact the Loomis but was unable to get through to the boat due to the congestion of the air.

CHIEF OF PURCHASE BUREAU DISCHARGED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Dismissal of Fred W. Meyer, chief of the state bureau of purchase, was announced today by Arlyn E. Stockburger, director of finance.

Meyer also was a member of the state board of control, along with Controller Ray L. Riley and Stockburger.

The director of finance said he did not contemplate filling the position, which he termed "unnecessary." He said the legislature would have to make some other provision for filling the vacancy on the board of control.

The release of Meyer was the first of a series of "economy" moves expected in the department of finance and other state agencies.

LIFE OF HLOC DEPENDENT ON INVESTIGATION

Survey Being Made to Determine if More Funds Will Be Loaned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The life of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, which has distributed more than $2,000,000,000 to distressed home owners, depends on a survey now being made by the corporation.

This was emphasized today by Chairman John H. Fahey when he said no decision had been reached on whether appropriation of further funds for the corporation should be recommended to congress.

The survey, Fahey said, is being conducted by the HOLC in conjunction with the federal housing administration, to determine whether private capital has recovered sufficiently to resume its normal lending functions.

Recommendations will be made to the president within the next 30 days, Fahey said.

Fahey said he believed the corporation's present funds of about $1,000,000,000 would be exhausted by the middle of February in caring for applications now on hand.

He revealed that instructions had been sent to state offices not to send any more applications to the legal department until further notice.

Fahey said that the Home Loan Bank board has received 443 applications from Building and Loan associations which desire to come under the insurance plan provided for in the home loan act of the last congress. Of these, 273 have been approved.

Three Children Burned to Death

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Three small children were burned to death when fire swept a north Cambridge tenement today.

The dead, Eugene, 5, Charles, 4, and Leonard, 10-weeks old, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

The mother and father escaped from the burning structure unaided, the mother leaping from a second floor window with Charles, Jr., in her arms.

The father was severely burned on the face and hands when he tried to re-enter the home to rescue the children.

PRISON STRIFE CHECKED

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Nov. 21.—(UP)—By segregating 40 troublesome convicts, Warden James B. Holohan believed today that he had checked internal strife within the gray prison walls and possibly had prevented a prison riot.

For five weeks Holohan and his men carefully have separated the troublemakers from the other men in the overcrowded prison and have denied them the privilege of the yard and other rights granted for good behavior.

Those being punished include men who "hit-jacked" food and supplies from other prisoners; knife wielders; and unruly prisoners.

COMMITTEE WILL PROBE ACCUSATIONS

Former Marine Chief Says He Was Urged to Head March on Washington

WITNESSES ARE CALLED

Wall Street Salesman Said to Have Broached General to Lead Movement

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Gerald P. Maguire, Wall Street bond salesman alleged to have broached the idea of a Fascist revolt to General Smedley D. Butler, has identified himself as the "cashier" of a dictator movement, Rep. Samuel Dickstein declared today.

Maguire, who has denounced as "utterly ridiculous" charges that he acted as the agent of a group of wealthy New Yorkers in an effort to induce General Butler to head an army of 500,000 veterans "in hanging himself," Dickstein said in discussing the salesman's testimony before the congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

"I will cross-examine him very thoroughly this afternoon," Dickstein added. He said that Maguire had admitted to the committee yesterday that he had been to Italy and Germany "and other countries where Fascism flourishes" this year.

Robert Sterling Clarke, a stock broker named by Butler as involved in the alleged plot, has also handled large sums of the money for the conspirators, Dickstein said.

Following publication of a story in the New York Post quoting Butler as saying he had been asked to head an American Fascist movement, the Congressional committee met in executive session and questioned a number of witnesses, including Butler and Paul Comly French, the reporter who wrote the Butler story for the Post.

After the session, Representative McCormick of Massachusetts,

NEW SCHEDULES ON AIRMAIL ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Additional airmail schedules on six routes were authorized today by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

The new schedules call for 3,083,529 miles per year, making the total annual scheduled mileage 35,129,792. Annual cost of the additional schedules will be $857,813.

Including all schedules the total annual cost of airmail will be $9,572,413, against $15,449,601 during the fiscal year 1933.

The new schedules include one additional round trip between each of the following points:

Los Angeles and Fort Worth, Texas, 1,324 miles, operated by American Airlines, Inc.

Fargo, N. D., and Seattle, Wash., 1,274 miles, operated by Northwest Airlines, Inc.

EXPOSURE BLAMED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

MERCED, Calif., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Exposure to a drenching rain and the chill of the High Sierras was blamed today for the death of Mrs. Jennie French, 32, of Mariposa, whose half-nude body was found in a small creek near her home yesterday.

Mrs. French was believed to have become lost in the mountains Wednesday night while searching for her husband, a gold prospector. Her dog, which had accompanied her, returned home the following day, and a search for the woman was begun Friday.

Civilian Conservation Corps workers, enrolled in a posse by Sheriff John J. Castagnetto, found her bruised, scratched body, nude to the waist and half submerged in Mariposa creek. Her clothing, it was believed, was torn from her during her panic-stricken dash through the brush.

ASK STUDY OF AMENDMENT ON BOOZE CONTROL

With the idea of preventing "law dodgers" seeking to evade the state liquor control laws, from combining liquor establishments with dance halls in Orange county, the county supervisors yesterday requested their legal advisor, Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, to study the provisions of the recently enacted Amendment No. 2, approved by the voters November 6, which deals with the licensing of liquor sales.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome, bringing the matter before the board, suggested that the board should be informed of the new control regulations before the time comes to renew dance hall licenses for the quarter beginning at the first of next year. Thus, he said, the board would know just how far it could go in divorcing dance halls from liquor establishments.

The board, he pointed out, should particularly prevent dance hall licenses being issued to establishments where liquor might be sold, without a legitimate cafe business being operated, as contemplated by state law.

Once advised regarding the provisions of the state law, the supervisors could enact a county ordinance on dance halls that would not conflict with state law, and would cooperate with the purpose of keeping down drunk-driving or rowdiness, it was declared.

Legislation to Be Discussed by Municipal League

Legislative problems facing the next state legislature, and the policy of cities on important matters will be discussed in detail tomorrow night when state and city officials join with the Orange County League of Municipalities in the Woman's clubhouse in La Habra, at 6:30 o'clock.

A. I. Stewart, president of the League of California Municipalities, will preside and call for talks from a group of state league officials from all parts of California. Among the guests will be Assemblymen Ted Craig and James Utt of Orange county, Senator Nels Edwards of Orange and several other legislators.

President L. A. Hogue of Brea will not be present at the meeting, although he has been returned to his home from an Upland hospital, where he was confined a week from serious automobile accident injuries received near Cucamonga. Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim, vice president of the league, will supervise the business session.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 21.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Well, sir, here is something I would like to see all your cities and towns do, the L. A. Bar Association put on a pageant called "The Making of the Constitution." (They say it was originated in Kansas City.) Well, it's a great thing, it shows Benjamin Franklin, Washington, Madison, Hamilton, and all those old "rope wigs" fighting during the making of our Constitution, young as well as the old will profit by it, and really enjoy it. Write and get your information from the L. A. Bar Association, you can put it on for some good charity, or free admission. I am not press agent for any bar association, I just saw it and thought it was great, and it's a great thing to do at this time. It's not expensive to put on, just the renting of the costumes is all. Do this, and you will thank me some day.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

SAFE STOLEN AT PLACENTIA: HOME ROBBED

Two burglaries in Placentia last night were investigated today by Chief Gus Barnes and Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes, one involving the theft of a safe and valuable contents from John's Smokehouse, 129 Santa Fe street, and the burglary of the home of T. Roy Barnes on Yorba Linda boulevard.

John Kelloff, owner of the Smokehouse, reported that the establishment was burglarized between midnight and 5 a. m. today. From tracks, it was ascertained that someone hid in a closet until after closing time, and then unlocked a rear door.

Two men took the safe from the front part of the place and hauled it away in a car. Footprints were found leading a block from the rear door.

The green safe, measuring 19 by 19 by 28 inches, contained $200 in cash, a box of pennies, $5 gold piece on a chain, two checks for $12.50 and $13.20, and 20 pink automobile registration certificates and sales contracts.

Entrance to the Barnes home was gained through a front room window by removing the screen and standing on a lawn bench to jump through the window. A revolver was stolen from a bedroom dresser and a bottle of liquor was taken from a kitchen cupboard and left on a table. Tracks were found in a nearby orchard.

AUTO A DEADLY WEAPON? COURT MUST DECIDE

Unique angles of criminal law, dealing with the question whether an automobile can be classified as a deadly weapon, or of assault, were expected to be raised and decided today in superior court, at the trial of Charles Allen Abrams, of San Clemente, who went to trial before a jury in Judge James L. Allen's department.

Abrams, who figured in a recent sensational pursuit and gunplay as Officer Earl Moore, of San Clemente, arrested him, is charged with assaulting Moore and David B. Kinney with a deadly weapon, an automobile; also with resisting an officer. With Attorney Otto J. Emme and Joseph R. McGuire defending him, while Deputy District Attorney Leo J. Friis and Harold McCabe conducted the prosecution, a spirited legal battle was predicted over the unusual points involved.

Abrams is accused of having used an automobile as a deadly weapon by attempting to crowd Moore's car into the ditch, while Moore and Kinney were pursuing him. The charge of resisting an officer is based upon the same incident. Moore finally halted Abrams after firing two bullets through his car.

The episode was said to have started with a dispute between Abrams and Kinney, who is the husband of Abrams' mother-in-law, over possession of a revolver. Their argument attracted Moore, who told them to go over to police court and settle it. Moore placed Abrams technically under arrest, it was said.

Abrams then leaped into an automobile and drove away toward San Juan Capistrano. Moore, accompanied by Kinney, gave chase, finally stopping Abrams with bullets.

The first witness today was Wayne Lovell, caretaker of the San Clemente clubhouse, who testified regarding conversation between Kinney and Abrams that was said to have started the affair.

Members of the jury selected for the trial including ten women and two men, were: Mrs. Margaret Utt, Charles E. Boyd, Mrs. Florabelle Sage, Mrs. Vina Gernie, Earl Mathis, Mrs. Rena G. Borchard, Mrs. H. J. Fay, Mrs. William Bathgate, Mrs. Ethel Spaulding, Mrs. Margaret Faerber, Mrs. Lolita Kier and Mrs. A. L. Alken.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER GET $8799 AWARD

Mrs. Norah D. Morris and her daughter, Betty Jesse, late yesterday won a damage award of $8799.32 in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, where their $51,424 suit, based on the fatal injury of John D. Morris in an automobile accident near Orange June 30, 1933, was tried.

Judgment was given against P. L. Farmer, of Upland, driver of the car involved with that of Morris, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl French, owners of the car. Farmer had driven a jail term for reckless driving as a result of the crash. He also pleaded guilty to manslaughter as a result of the crash.

The plaintiffs were wife and daughter, respectively, of the deceased.

APPREHEND BOYS WHO STOLE SIGNS

It was great fun for a quartet of high school youths to appropriate five gasoline tire and oil signs from a service station but it was a little embarrassing to get caught and have to return them, according to police files.

W. L. Shearer, service station manager at Fifth and French streets, reported to officers yesterday that the signs valued at $40, had been taken Monday night. Officers later saw one of the signs near a church and upon close investigation, saw another in a window of a boys' club room in the church.

Members of the club were contacted and four boys admitted taking the signs.

They returned the property yesterday afternoon following a severe reprimand by police.

MISS CARLIN WEDS

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 21.—The marriage of Miss Lorraine Carlin and James J. Moran Jr., of San Pedro, took place November 17 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carlin. A small family group was present for the ceremony, the date of which marked the birthday anniversary of the bride's father. The young couple left at once for Long Beach where they will make their home until Mr. Moran's ship goes to Bremerton, Wash.

Musical Program Is Arranged for Church Vespers

An elaborate musical program has been arranged for a vespers service to be given in the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon starting at 4:30 o'clock, it was announced today.

Featured on the program will be a noted vocalist, Florence Schofield Foster. The guest soloist is well known in musical circles, having been soloist with the Los Angeles-Hollywood Women's Symphony orchestra, the Laguna Beach Symphony orchestra, for the past three and a half years soloist at Temple Baptist church in Los Angeles and has been soloist at the Moses Band church, St. Petersburg, Florida.

Another feature of the program will be a group of instrumental numbers to be played by Robert Forney, Annabelle Archer and Esther Vogt. A vocal trio, composed of Mary Steffensen, Benlah Parker and Laura Joiner will sing special selections.

Miss Lenora Tompkins and Mrs. W. B. Snow will play piano and organ duets, while Miss Emma Williams, pupil of Holly Lash Visei, will give a reading. The church choir will be heard in a group of numbers.

DELEGATES TO NAVAL PARLEY MEET FRIDAY

chief Japanese technical negotiator, was reported to have said that if Japan were not granted equality she would build ships of whatever type and size she thought fit, and would not agree, as Britain suggested, to limit sizes.

The United States delegation was reported authoritatively to be determined that if the conference fails, America will take the right to extend its zone of fortified naval bases in the Pacific, now limited by the existing naval treaties.

It was said that the United States would consider its right to extend the zones as existing from the date Japan denounced the existing treaties, as she is expected to do, and would consent to limit fortifications only when an agreement to replace the treaties was concluded.

This news worried both the British, seeking to act as mediators and Japanese. Naval experts generally were discussing the possibility of American fortified fleet and air bases at Manila, Guam and elsewhere in addition to the Alaskan coast. Britain, it was said, might be forced to modernize its naval base at Hong Kong. As a crisis approached, British unofficial sources suggested that the United States should join the League of Nations if Japan "sabotaged" the conference.

ROMANCE, COMEDY ON WALKER SCREEN

"Wild Gold" with John Boles and Claire Trevor in the leading roles comes to Walker's State theater today on a double feature program. It tells the story of the revival of an old mining town in the new search for gold. Harry Green provides much comedy in the story.

The other feature is a fast moving comedy, "Call It Luck", telling the story of the adventures of Herbert Mundin, an English caddy, after he wins $125,000 as a sweepstakes prize. Swindlers do him out of his money, but his daughter, Pat Paterson and Charles Starrett, her sweetheart, help him get even.

A novelty, "Following the Horses," completes the bill.

IRA OUT ON LIMB

but it seemed a terribly long time. I was so eager to get here," she replied.

Noticing the crowd, she continued:

This is a great welcome. It really does embarrass me. The English people are so kind about it all.

The royal party reached Victoria station, London, in mid-afternoon after a cautious journey from Dover through the fog.

In spite of the weather King George and Queen Mary went to the station to welcome their future daughter-in-law.

At the station, Queen Mary and then King George kissed Princess Marina. She then shook hands with the Prince of Wales and Duke of York and kissed the Princess royal and the Duchess of York.

COMMITTEE TO LAUNCH PROBE ON FASCISTS

chairman of the committee, said additional witnesses will be called and that taking of testimony may continue through the week.

Butler was the first witness called before the committee. His testimony was secret but it was reported he outlined the proposals made to him by the New York capitalists who assertedly were attempting organization of a Fascist march on Washington something along lines of Benito Mussolini's march on Rome, which ended in the Italian Fascist dictatorship.

Quizzed Three Hours

The former marine commandant was questioned for three hours and later Representative Dickstein, vice-chairman of the committee, said:

"From what we have learned we believe Gen. Butler has considerable information and that he is presenting it correctly. We have about fifteen witnesses under subpoena."

"There are indications that some rather important personages have been proposing ideas that are distinctly un-American."

The next witness after French was Capt. Glazier, commandant of a C. C. C. camp at Elk Lodge, Md. The C. C. C. was mentioned as an organization the Fascists might use as a nucleus for their organization. Glazier's testimony was not disclosed.

Names Bond Salesman

In his story in the Post, French named Gerald P. MacGuire, connected with the brokerage house of Grayson M. P. Murphy & Co., as the man who asked Butler to organize 500,000 war veterans into a Fascist army. MacGuire, who described himself as a bond salesman, said the charges were absurd, adding he had not the slightest idea why he had been subpoenaed by the committee.

MacGuire said he had known Butler three or four years and had talked with him about American Legion and war veteran affairs.

Defendant Held Guilty by Jury Of Drunk Driving

Finding N. Lucas, of Santa Ana, guilty of drunk driving, a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court late yesterday recommended a 90-day jail sentence, and also recommended probation.

Lucas applied for probation, through his attorney, T. E. Pickens, and will receive a hearing before Judge Scovel November 30. The jury deliberated nearly four and a half hours before reaching its verdict.

a day, saying they were quite content with relief.

The subject has been discussed not only among administration officials including even President Roosevelt, but among senators who have seen the system in operation in their home communities.

The plans, such as a program for work relief, are being studied by Hopkins and his aides in anticipation of sharp revision of relief policies.

If congressional critics are not convinced by the time congress meets, Jan. 3, that FERA officials have used every effort to weed out waste and inefficiency, a relief investigation seems assured.

Should the new drive for heightened efficiency be successful, however, it appeared likely that the cry for an investigation of broad scope would be quieted.

DISMISS DRUNK DRIVING CHARGE

Raymond H. Robins, motorist who was firing a shotgun at a roadside sign on the Coast Highway, when some of the charge glanced and wounded Mrs. Myheera Jones, of Long Beach, a passing woman motorist, today pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon.

Appearing before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel he changed a previous plea of not guilty, which he had entered to the assault charge, also to a charge of drunk-driving. On motion of the district attorney's office today, the drunk-driving charge was dismissed, after which Robins pleaded guilty to the assault charge, and filed application for probation. His hearing was set for November 30.

Health Dinner Attracts Many

More than 300 persons were served last night at a health dinner demonstration given by the Loma Linda Food company in the American Legion hall.

Dr. E. C. Ehlers gave a lecture on foods and health and Dr. S. T. Johnson presided at the banquet. Mayor E. G. Warner and Councilman Plummer Burns were introduced.

Musical numbers were offered by Grace Hansen Buell, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. E. T. Johnston and James J. Anderson, marimbaphone artist, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Waddell of Orange.

SELECT JURORS FOR GAMBLING CASE AT BEACH

After exhausting one panel and securing a special venire of 10 jurors, attorneys completed the selection of a jury at noon today in the Seal Beach justice court, to hear testimony against Arthur Winter and Philip Posa, charged with gambling.

The two men were arrested November 10 when sheriff's officers raided two chip games and a tango parlor in the beach city.

They have been free since the night of the raid on $100 bail and later pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Fred Smith.

The trial today is being conducted by Judge C. C. "Gavvy" Cravath of Laguna Beach, who was asked by Judge Smith to sit in his place. Smith was sitting during the previous gambling trials when verdicts of "not guilty" were rendered in all cases and voluntarily disqualified himself today.

Z. B. West, Jr., of Santa Ana, is defending the alleged gamblers while Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner is conducting the prosecution.

RAYMER DINNER POSTPONED BY C. OF C. BOARD

Because of many conflicting events, the dinner planned to be held tomorrow night in honor of George A. Raymer, former secretary of the local chamber of commerce, has been postponed and will be held at a later date, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber this morning.

Mrs. Roy Beall, of the P. T. A., appeared before the chamber directors and asked the support of the chamber in a request to the city council that the city furnish a truck and driver for a float to be entered in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. Mrs. Beall said the decorations would be done in charge of Hazel Nell Bemus, school art instructor, and that the flowers can be obtained through donation. There is no charge for the entrance of a float this year, she said. Directors voted to aid in making the request of the city.

President J. P. Baumgartner was authorized by the directors to appoint a publicity and promotion committee, the main duties of which would be to cooperate in aiding the coming San Diego exposition. It was pointed out that many would travel through Santa Ana to the exposition and it would benefit the city to aid.

A meeting of the directors and legislative committee announced for today will be held tomorrow, at the Green Cat cafe with Leonard Reed, western representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, scheduled to talk.

Directors decided to offer the services of the chamber of commerce to Santa Ana and Orange county organizations, to act as a clearing house so that events to be staged will not conflict as much as they have in the past. Organizations which wish to cooperate will inform the chamber in advance of the time they plan to stage events. A calendar of events will be kept, listing meetings and events as far in advance as possible.

Tribute to Life Of Frank Klatt Paid by Priest

Writing his appreciation for the type of life he lived and the service he gave to his fellow men, the following article was received today from the Rev. F. A. Wickenman, now pastor of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, Mission Hills, San Diego, but formerly of Santa Ana, lauding the life of Francis Klatt, who died here last week: "The death last week of Francis (Frank) Klatt, late of 201 East Washington street, a revered veteran of the Civil war who reached the patriarchal age of 97 years, removed from the community of Santa Ana one of its most honorable citizens. He was the devoted father of a large family who cherish the memory of his kind and unselfish service to them during so many years in their happy home.

"In the vigor of his young manhood, Mr. Klatt came to the prairies of Illinois from his native Germany to seek and find his fortune in the new world. After serving with distinction his adopted country during the perilous days of the Civil War, Mr. Klatt became a successful businessman in Central Illinois for many years before he came with his family to Orange county to live in retirement. A true Christian gentleman possessed of high ideals and noble aspirations, this worthy citizen proved all through his long career that he was a disciple of 'the old school' which taught that honesty and justice are civic virtues, that the word of a friend is a sacred pledge, that a home is the sanctuary of the family, and that the Golden Rule is a divine spark from the burning love for all mankind in the Heart of the Creator.

"May the great soul of the simple Francis Klatt—citizen, neighbor, friend, patriot, benefactor, follower of Christ, child of God—enjoy the eternal peace and bliss of the Beatific Vision in heaven."

Townsend Clubs Meet Thursday

Two meetings of Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension plan clubs will be held tomorrow night. Club number 1 will meet at the Roosevelt school at 7 p. m. when a talk is scheduled to be made, according to A. G. Diehl, president.

A meeting of another Townsend club just organized will be held at 1245 South Sycamore street tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Charles Dixon is president of the club, which has been assigned the territory from Fairview to Edinger streets and from Main street west. All interested in the old age pension plan are invited to attend.

Lloyd Chandler, 34, San Pedro, was booked at the county jail last night by federal officers for bond forgery.

Leonard Murillo, 24, 305 Spurgeon street, was jailed for drunkenness last night by Santa Ana police.

BUILDING PERMITS HERE FOR NOVEMBER WITHIN $6000 OF TOTAL FOR ENTIRE YEAR 1932

With the November building permit total topping the $100,000 mark, the total valuation of 1934 to date is up to $321,932, less than $6000 of the entire building figure for the year of 1932.

Two permits issued yesterday by Building Inspector S. I. Preble boosted the November total to $110,000 to $120,000 and the normal number of other permits make up the difference between the present valuation and the 1932 total, which was swelled with repairs after the earthquake.

The two permits issued yesterday were to C. N. Kranchi, 530 North Artesia, for alterations and additions to his home, at a cost of $1000, and to Dr. H. C. Clark, 4051-2 North Broadway, for installation of plaster partitions at a cost of $100.

It is possible the ultimate building total for 1934 may top the 1933 mark of $488,220, since the contract on the new Santa Ana city hall is expected to be let in December. This will range from $110,000 to $120,000 and the normal number of other permits make up the difference between the present valuation and the 1932 total, which was swelled with repairs after the earthquake.

SURPLUS FOOD MORE FAMILIES FOR NEEDY IS NOW RECEIVING BEING RECEIVED SERA RELIEF

With shipments of government surplus foodstuffs now arriving in Orange county, Terrence H. Halloran, county SERA director, today had plans well under way for the distribution of the food.

Shipments of canned peaches, canned beef and rice are being received here now, the goods representing the allotment for the month of November. Because the month is well along another shipment of various commodities will come for next month's distribution. It is believed that there will be enough of the present supply to give to all eligible.

Director Halloran plans to begin distribution of the November surplus foods on November 27, or next Tuesday, when machinery for distribution will be set up. The set up entails a complete bookkeeping department and every can of government goods must be accounted for to the government. C. E. Downey, formerly with the county welfare department in charge of distribution of government foods received in the past, will be in charge of the SERA surplus foods division here.

Work now is being completed on drawing up a list of all those on SERA relief work, direct relief, county recipients of aid and others eligible for the surplus foods, so that distribution may not be slowed up when it is started.

Director Halloran believes that this distribution marks the beginning of considerable distribution of surplus foods by the government. He said there is a possibility of receiving frozen veal among other articles, but no fresh beef. It has been found impracticable to distribute fresh beef and there has not been enough of it to pay, he said.

Spradlin Funeral Rites Held Today

Funeral services for Nora C. Spradlin, 53, who died at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday, were held today from the Smith and Tuttle funeral home with the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church officiating. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Spradlin had lived in California for 20 years and in the vicinity of Santa Ana for 20 years. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. E. S. Gordon of Santa Ana, and one brother, John H. Graham, of Illinois.

TIME LIMIT ON BEET SUGAR ENDS SATURDAY

Sugar beet growers have until next Saturday, November 24, to file applications with the AAA for production adjustment contracts. It was stated today by Eric E. Eastman, assistant county farm advisor, who said that in many areas of the state sugar beets must be planted now.

The number of acres cooperating growers may plant this year cannot be definitely decided until all applications for contracts are signed and filed.

The closing date for signing of official contracts is set at December 11. Before that date, each grower who has signed will have received from the secretary of agriculture his acreage allotment for the crop year of 1935.

By that date, also, it was stated, each grower must have decided the exact acreage he intends to plant in 1935, and such acreage must be indicated to the district sugar beet production control association, to which the grower belongs.

In no case can acreage planted be greater than acreage allotted. The grower has the responsibility for keeping within the specified acreage under the terms of his contract. It was explained.

Eastman announced today that sweet potato and yam growers under the prorated agreement, who have been unable to get prorated stamps, with the result that the unmarketable crops are spoiling on their hands without compensation, would be given opportunity to get such stamps.

Herbert Langdon, of Covina, zone agent under the prorated, will be in Orange county, with stamps, on every Tuesday and Friday, as follows: 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. at Knott's Berry place, Grand avenue, south of Buena Park; 11 a. m. to 12 noon, at the M. O. D. house in Garden Grove; 1 to 2 p. m. at the Greeley place, 1918 Santa Ana avenue, Costa Mesa.

Thompson was struck by White's car while walking along the highway in the rain. California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover testified that White had not been drinking and could not have avoided the crash, since Thompson was walking on the wrong side of the road.

CITIZENSHIP GROUP PLANS FOR FUTURE

Discussion of plans for the future occupied members of the Orange County Christian Citizenship Council at a meeting held last night in the home of S. W. McColloch, vice president, on Placentia avenue between Placentia and Fullerton.

Members of the council decided to hold regular meetings in the future, and to continue the work of the council in aiding in law enforcement measures.

Motorist Held to Answer on Charge Of Drunk Driving

John Mayers, arrested for drunken driving following a wreck at Seventeenth and Main streets on October 17, was held to answer to the superior court in the Santa Ana justice court today by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Testimony was given by F. E. Farnsworth, Jr., driver of the other car in the crash, Officer Harry Prichard and Dr. H. G. Huffman.

Heredity of Cow Main Factor In Content of Milk

The percentage of solids-not-fat in milk cannot be controlled and is not affected by the kind, quality or amount of feed given the cow. W. M. Regan, professor of animal husbandry in the University of California, at the branch of the college of agriculture at Davis, has reached this conclusion after careful experiments made on the university farm.

"Heredity," says Professor Regan, "probably is the most potent factor in determining the composition of milk. High solids cows are born, not made."

Three methods for increasing the average solids-not-fat content of herd milk are offered by Professor Regan. The dairyman may add high solids cows, either of the same or another breed; he may eliminate from his herd those who are extremely low; and he may use herd stress selected from families noted for high solids-not-fat.

"While none of the published records of the breed associations report the solids-not-fat test," he says, "these usually vary directly with the percentage of fat. By selecting then, animals relatively high for percentage of fat, one will also secure those capable of transmitting high solids-not-fat."

EXONERATE DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

W. E. White, 44, Three Arches, was cleared of blame in the death of Delmer A. Thompson, 19, San Diego sailor killed on the coast highway near Dana Point Sunday night, at an inquest held today from the Laguna Beach funeral home.

Thompson was struck by White's car while walking along the highway in the rain. California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover testified that White had not been drinking and could not have avoided the crash, since Thompson was walking on the wrong side of the road.

The sailor's death brought the total of traffic fatalities in the county this year to 52, four more than at this time last year.

CAR STRIPPED

The stolen car of Robert Johnson, West Sixth street, stolen last week in Corona, was found today with the headlights, wheels, tires and battery stolen. It was reported to police.

NAVY AIRSHIP PAYS VISIT TO COUNTY COAST

Many necks in Santa Ana and coast cities were craned up this morning when the giant dirigible Macon passed south toward San Diego along the Orange county coastline.

Flying majestically only about 1000 feet high, the queen of the navy air service was first sighted near Huntington Beach. After going directly over the Newport Beach city hall, the dirigible headed slightly out to sea and passed Laguna Beach about a mile from shore.

Rooftops in Santa Ana were cluttered with many sight-seers when news of the Macon was spread, after Radio KREG flashed a bulletin from the Register at 9:45 o'clock. The airship was visible for about 20 minutes. Clear visibility made it possible to see the craft very plainly until it disappeared over the hills to the south.

The Macon left its mooring mast at Sunnyvale late yesterday on a two day training flight at sea, and was expected to return Thursday.

Court Notes

Appearing in police court yesterday on drunkenness charges, Nesario Valenzuela paid $3 of a $15 fine and Miles Kehoe was given a 10 day suspended sentence.

Four men were fined for speeding when they were cited into police court yesterday. Orlando Salazar, Santa Paula, paid $5; G. L. Fields and Charlie Starett paid $6 each, and Ernest Desena paid $8.

CONFIDENCE

The most important step taken by the administration lately to inspire confidence was hidden within that little squib handed out by the treasury announcing the abandonment of restrictions on the export of capital.

It did not cause a handclap out in the country because the real significance was hidden under a lot of financial verbiage but it made a detonation in the right places.

What it meant was that the treasury now is confident, whether you are or not. It proved that the administration was at last ready to let government bonds and the dollar stand on their own feet, against foreign investments and foreign currencies. Also, it was a temporary assurance against further dollar devaluation.

In simple words it was the action which at least partially proved President Roosevelt's words in Mississippi: "All is well."

EXPLANATION

The treasury order really told large investors, and, in fact, everyone else:

"All right, if you think there are better investments abroad, if you are afraid of our money and our bonds, go ahead and ship your capital abroad. We think the dollar is just as stable as foreign currencies, and, therefore, we see no need for restricting the export of capital."

It could not have said that if further dollar devaluation were contemplated. Private capitalists could clean up a neat profit by sending their money abroad now without restriction and bringing it back after devaluation, getting more dollars for it than.

The Treasury could not afford to lay itself open to encouraging such speculation. It would have had to withhold the order if dollar devaluation were in the picture for the near future.

HOWEVER

The only hitch in the guarantee is that it is not permanent. The government can clamp down the restraining again at any time. Also, it is true that the restrictions did not materially impede the flight of capital when they were in effect, because there were ways of circumventing the rules. Few know it, but the Treasury did not veto a single request for shipment of capital abroad while the restrictions were in effect. The rule was more of a red tape deterrent than anything else.

The flight of capital has not been very important since last January. At one time, money was going into Canadian stocks and bonds at a rather rapid clip, but the exodus did not last.

BONUS

The inside bonus news will not inspire much confidence. The administration surveys of Congressional sentiment are convinced they are licked. All they can hope for is a compromise and they (meaning, chiefly, Senator Pat Harrison) are pushing plans for a compromise strongly.

Harrison's compromise is supposed to be based on the old Garner bonus plan for payment only of those who need the money, and for cancellation of interest.

SPEAKERSHIP

The big Congressional arrangers have put on their rubber-soled shoes and are arranging for the House Speakership election in a big way. Boss Guffy of Pennsylvania is supposed to have had a quiet meeting with Boss Flynn of the Bronx the other night at which the candidacy of Congressman Rayburn took a big jump. Likewise Vice-President Garner is due in Washington immediately after his Warm Springs visit. He will say nothing about it, but will work mainly on two things—the bonus compromise and Rayburn for Speaker.

These developments have sharply cut down the odds on Mr. Byrns as the favorite. Before many more days have passed you may see things arranged for Rayburn as Speaker and McCormick of Massachusetts as Floor Leader.

All those working backstage on the matter are determined to avoid a fight. They want everything fixed up in advance so that Mr. Byrns as well as Mr. Rayburn and Mr. McCormick will be satisfied.

GOLD

The Belgian gold loan did not mean anything. No one will admit officially that the Federal Reserve banks even decided to advance $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 to the Belgians, but they did.

What happened was that a credit was established for Belgium with the Federal Reserve bank of New York. Belgium had to meet an American obligation at once. It would take a week or two to ship the gold. So the Federal Reserve banks advanced the credit, which will last only until the gold arrives.

The whole thing was purely a courtesy bookkeeping facility to help Belgium in her current crisis.

NOTES

Comptroller O'Connor, least liked (by the press) government official, has now seen the error of his ways. He has invited Treasury newsmen out to dinner.

The Republican Congressional authorities who have returned since election are fairly well agreed on their course. They intend to lie low until the Administration makes a mistake (like the air mail contract cancellation) and then try to rally the younger element of the party around that one issue.

One angle of the House Speaker-Leader deal they include the resignation of Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee to run for governor of North Carolina so that Sam Hill of Washington can get that important post.

There are only an even dozen of Republican stalwarts left on the Republican side of the Senate chamber. The other thirteen Republicans are independents.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

SPEARHEAD

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce is going in for supporting the President in a big way. In the next few weeks you'll see plenty of evidence that the vinegar of criticism has been dissolved in the honey of collaboration. Representatives of big business will testify publicly that confidence has been restored and make it clear in other ways that they are ready to hop on the Roosevelt bandwagon.

But there's an important reservation beneath all this harmony. Labor's New Deal gains have industry seriously worried. Strong pressure will be applied to nullify them—in the name of recovery—and the Chamber of Commerce is slated to serve as spearhead of the attack. Legislation will be sought to give proportional representation in collective bargaining—as exemplified in the motor industry—the sanction of law and thus suppress the majority rule threat which gives organized labor a dangerous edge over company unions. If the whole of Section 7a can be thrown in the scrap heap so much the better—but even the most optimistic conservatives hardly dare hope for that.

The Chamber's activities in this direction will mostly be conducted offstage—but they won't be any the less vigorous on that account.

Many business leaders don't want to grant labor even the sop of proportional representation. Their decision to concede the point is simply a compromise with reality. They recognize there's no chance of getting back to the old individualism in labor relations at one jump and that progress toward that goal must be made step by step—if at all.

There's a reason why the Chamber of Commerce is getting so busy right now. It has a powerful rival in the National Association of Manufacturers—which is even more conservative. Its revenues have been cut heavily and it is confronted by the necessity of justifying its existence to its members.

There's a reason why the Chamber of Commerce is getting so busy right now. It has a powerful rival in the National Association of Manufacturers—which is even more conservative. Its revenues have been cut heavily and it is confronted by the necessity of justifying its existence to its members.

ISSUES

The Federation of Labor's two major objectives—the 30-hour week and majority rule in collective bargaining—will not be reached overnight. Informed New Yorkers say that Federation leaders realize this and the prospective deal doesn't hurt their feelings at all. For the first time in years they have live issues to fight for and the harder and longer the scrap the more certain they are of keeping their jobs.

Their hold on their followers has been none too secure recently. But now they have a chance to play themselves up as the rightful custodians of these issues and claim that they must be entrusted with the job of seeing them through. The battle to come is a godsend from the angle of quelling internal rebellion.

CHALLENGE

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit's refusal to obey the National Labor Board's order to reinstate employees fired for union affiliations is the most flagrant defiance of that body yet.

Up to now Houde Engineering has been the most conspicuous mutineer against Labor Board rulings. But Houde's case rests merely on its contention that it has not violated the collective bargaining provisions of the law. But goes much further by denying that the Labor Board has any legal authority on which to base its order. There is reason to believe that BMT—which ties in to high financial sources—was urged to force the stiffest possible showdown on the Labor Board's powers. The fact that it operates wholly intra-state puts it in a stronger position for a court contest with a federal agency than a corporation with inter-state activities.

Insiders agree that the Board's prestige is permanently shot unless it can meet this challenge successfully. They understand that Francis Biddle—its new chairman—will go the limit to prove that his board amounts to more than eyewash. His emphatic liberalism makes his appointment distasteful to conservatives and suspicious New Yorkers cite it as evidence that the President is only kidding business along with his reassuring gestures in other directions.

DEFENDERS

Utility companies would like to see their security holders rally more effectively to their defense. The several organizations so far formed for the purpose have been about as useful as buttons on a handkerchief.

One trouble has been that such groups are dependent on the corporations themselves for their membership. You can't enlist security holders unless you know who they are. The companies have been surprisingly reluctant to give this cooperation. They don't want to offer any fresh grounds for government criticism and they don't relish giving private lists of security holders to strangers. There's always the chance that they might fall into the wrong hands.

Another difficulty is that the leaders of these organizations—however well-meaning—are people whose names carry little weight either in getting results or in coping with Washington. A New York utility leader remarks that expecting such small fry to beat back the government assault is like asking the chickens to chase away the fox.

The utilities' real hope is that security holders potent in their own right—such as insurance companies and savings banks—can be induced to work vigorously in their cause. They figure on organization headed by prominent insurance and financial executives would have a chance of getting somewhere. But so far they have been unable to interest these desired defenders in carrying the torch.

AFFECTION

Richard Whitney's sudden affection for the Securities and Exchange Commission—a contribution to the "new corporation"—causes Wall Street scoffers to wonder how soon the international bankers will send orchids to Father Coughlin.

DRAIN

Here's the utilities' pet crack about TVA: "The Tennessee river flows through three states and drains the other 45."

EXPECT GROWD FOR CLUB PLAY NEXT TUESDAY

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—"Pinafore", the nautical operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, to be given by members of Fullerton Kiwanis club Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, promises to be one of the outstanding productions presented in Fullerton, in the opinion of club members who have been working on the production the past six weeks. A large attendance is expected.

A few outsiders are assisting with the operetta, which is being directed by Benjamin Edwards, instructor of music at Fullerton District Junior college, and Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield, instructor in dramatics.

All net proceeds for the show are for the Kiwanis club and scholarship fund, for the benefit of school students who are unable to continue their studies for financial reasons. It is estimated the cost to the club will be $400.

In addition to the directors named, Harold Walberg will be in charge of the orchestra accompaniment.

Stars in the production are Glenn Lewis, who will play the part of "Joseph Porter," Lewis is president of the Kiwanis club; Stanley Berkeley, well known baritone, "Captain Corcoran"; Hayden Bolander, "Ralph Rockstraw"; Mrs. Dorothy Horner, "Josephine"; Mrs. Taylor Jacobson, "Cousin Hebe"; and Mrs. William Montague, "Little Buttercup".

NEW TEACHING METHODS TOLD FORD P.-T. A.

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—Miss Huberteen Kueneman, head of the elementary department of Santa Ana schools, addressed Fullerton Ford Parent-Teacher association Tuesday. The program opened at 1 o'clock when classes were hosts to parents of the school. More than 125 mothers and fathers and guests took advantage of the occasion to visit school.

Miss Kueneman, who was introduced by Mrs. Harold McCabe, program chairman, discussed the new methods of teaching and brought out the needs of training "to live" as being paramount to formal instruction. She said the school is gradually finding means whereby the child can live more fully the life of every period, and thus can develop normally.

The value of reading was stressed by the speaker, and she also drew attention to the use of reading, and formal subject matter, exclusively.

"The society today are due, in part, to the fact that people are too ready to accept the written word. They should think first, should question; should be critically questioning; we are exploited, and injured because we have not been taught to think," she declared.

Mrs. Harry Maxwell presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Taylor Jacobson introduced Lois Hollingsworth, who gave a group of readings.

Mrs. Maxwell announced that the soup kitchen, with SERA labor being employed, is opening Thursday.

Party Held for Sorority Group

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—Grace Hirkoyen, of 404 West Brookdale avenue, was the hostess Monday evening to members of Beta Chi sorority and entertained her guests with a bridge party. Rosebuds formed the floral decoration for the rooms of her home.

The Thanksgiving motif was carried out on the bridge tables, and in the refreshments served at the close of the games. Mabel Snyder, of Long Beach, won first prize and Naomi Granger, of La Habra, was low. Marguerite Williams, of La Habra, was presented with the traveling prize.

Ethel Sanford will be hostess to the group December 3 at her home on Floral drive, Whittier. Other guests present were Geneva Spary and Pauline Hogansen, of La Harba; Martha Iverson and Virginia Jewett, of Fullerton; Irene Burgess, of Whittier, and Dorothy Pickup, of Santa Fe Springs.

Water Polo Popular

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—With 98 men answering his call for water polo, Coach James Smith anticipates another banner year for Fullerton high school tank teams. With thirty of this number being freshmen, the outlook is bright. Both Fullerton "A" and "C" water polo squads turned in Southern California championships last season, the varsity enjoying an undefeated league season and tying for the Southern Pacific A. A. U. title with the U. C. L. A. Bruins, California collegiate champions, whom they tied 5-all after beating Los Angeles, Southern California Jaycee champs, 3-2.

Men's class, sponsor, of which Harry May is teacher, and Ronald Collis, accompanied by Mrs. Ashly V. Doss, provided violin music. The dinner committee was composed of Dr. F. H. Gobar, May and Gordon Wimpress.

CO-OPERATIVE DEMOCRACY IS HELD WAY OUT

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—Co-operative democracy is the way out of the depression we are in, and the way is being shown by President Roosevelt, according to the Rev. Henry Kendall Booth of the First Congregational church of Long Beach, who spoke to men of the Fullerton Presbyterian church at their dinner meeting in the parlors Tuesday night. His topic was "America At the Cross Roads."

"For years America has been heedlessly going ahead, with periodic depressions occasioning a detour," Dr. Booth said. "During the past two years America has been standing at the end of a detour, with no road out. The old road has come to a sudden end. It is impossible to go any further on it. One reason was the cracking of character of some of those who got their hands on large shares of the resources of the country."

"One member of a prominent firm of munition makers said one day recently that his firm of powder makers had made no attempts to influence the government and the next day on the witness stand had to admit that it had. Another firm, including one of the richest men in the world, after cleaning up 14 million dollars in profit from the discoveries of a German named Koppers about the by-products of coke during the war, allowed him as an alien to be stripped of all his property and sent back to his own land. This story has been publicly made and never denied."

According to the speaker, there are three ways out, of which both fascism and communism depend on violence, but the third way is that of recovery and reconstruction, co-operative democracy.

"The competitive system has served its day, the day of expansion and new frontiers, but that day is gone," he said. "My attitude towards president has changed since the election two years ago. I expected nothing from him and have been astonished beyond words to see the carefully balanced program; three days ago Mr. Silas Strawn of the United States Chamber of Commerce who has always opposed the new deal as well as Mr. Harriman, announced that they were through with heckling and will back the president 100 per cent. We have a right to be optimistic."

SPEAKER SAYS HITLER PLANS GIVEN SUPPORT

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—The people of Germany feel that the solution of the problems of Germany as worked out by Adolf Hitler is the only solution for the present, and seem quite satisfied, according to Miss Frieda Jans, Anaheim, who spent the summer there with friends and traveling. She talked Monday night to members of the Northern Orange County Pan-Hellenic society at a meeting at 517 East Wilshire avenue, where Miss Winifred Hardy, Miss Mildred Lee, Miss Kathryn Wood were co-hostesses. Included in her discussion was a description of the Passion play as presented at Oberammergau.

Dr. Mabel Myers, instructor at Fullerton District Junior college, contributed to the program in her description of a trip to South America, and her return by airplane. Miss Marian Utter, of Anaheim, discussed new books to be found in libraries.

Attending besides those mentioned were Miss Florence Backs, Miss Marian Utter, Miss Florence Eymann, Mrs. Marie Terry, Miss Marie Webster and Miss Virginia Hodges, of Anaheim, and Miss Dorothy Chapman, Miss Astrid Hansen, Mrs. Donna Williams, Miss Lorraine Reeder, Mrs. Donald Cruikshank and Mrs. Erna Epperly, Fullerton.

FORD V8 $505 and up, 1 O.E. Detroit

Easy terms through the Universal Credit Company, the Authorized Ford Finance Plan.

Today the man with a family is looking for value in an automobile. Value and SAFETY.

And it is not surprising to learn that the two things go together. Safety must be a basic principle of design—not an afterthought.

That is why the man who knows automobile values so often picks the Ford V-8. He knows, by its design, that this car must be safe to drive and easy to handle. Take Detroit, for instance, the automobile capital of America . . . There cars are closely compared by buyers who know mechanical features, materials and design. And the result of these comparisons is that THREE TIMES AS MANY DETROITERS HAVE BOUGHT FORD V-8'S

THIS YEAR AS HAVE BOUGHT ANY OTHER MAKE OF AUTOMOBILE.

This winter—when your family may be driving on snowy, rutted roads or on slippery, rain-soaked gravel—why not provide them with the extra safety of driving in the comfort and security of a new Ford V-8 . . . You will be freeing yourself, at the same time, of a great unnecessary load of worry.

Study it out for yourself—What other car under $2,500 offers you all these safety features?

V-8 Engine (Reserve power for highway emergencies). All-steel body (Electrically welded into a single steel unit, reinforced with steel). Torque tube drive (The drive found in the most expensive European and American cars). Low center of gravity (Gives a car stability at high speeds and greatly decreases the danger of overturn). Safety Glass (All Ford Deluxe body types have safety glass throughout at no extra cost).

COAST DISTRICT ZONING TOPIC FOR DISCUSSION

Various subjects, ranging from proposed zoning of unincorporated sections of the Orange county coast line, and federal assistance in financing a county-wide flood control project, to Christmas holiday illumination along the coast highway and arrangements for a Christmas party at Seal Beach on December 18, were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association held last night at the White House cafe in Laguna Beach.

Dr. C. G. Huston, of Costa Mesa, president of the association, presided over the meeting which was attended by more than 125 members and guests, including a large number of county officials. Among those present were members of the Orange county planning commission, headed by Dr. W. L. Sligham, its president, of Anaheim. Long Beach also was represented by a large delegation.

The greater portion of the meeting was given over to planning in which connection L. Deming Tilton, well known California planning expert, now acting as consultant to the Orange county planning commission, gave a detailed presentation of a zoning ordinance now under consideration by the commission, having a direct application to the Orange county coast area. This proposed ordinance, the speaker explained, makes provisions for the establishment of restricted, unclassified and unrestricted sections. Of the first mentioned, particularly applicable to the undeveloped stretches of coast land, he described what is termed "estate districts," composed of residence holdings not less than one acre in area. The speaker went on to say that because of the topographical condition of the coast land, zoning restrictions, if accepted, would center about property located alongside the coast highway, making certain sections available for business, others for apartment and other types of income property, and still others for private residential property. He pointed out, however, that it was not the desire of the planning commission to force zoning restrictions on the property owners unless they themselves want their property thus protected.

Tilton also observed that heavily trafficked highways, studied with huge trucks carrying large loads of freight, have ceased to be an attractive asset in community development, hence today planners of residential districts are seeking to avoid contacts with traffic arteries.

The proposed improvement of Glenneyre street, making it available for through motor traffic, now under consideration by the city council as a result of an offer of free dirt from the state highway commission, was brought up by Dr. Spencer Miller, who in emphatic terms voiced his disapproval of the project.

Roy Browning, engineer, connected with the Irvine interests, thought the question of flood control and water conservation was fully as important, if not more so, to the people of the county, including those living in the coast section, as county planning, and suggested this phase of the economic life of the county be given serious attention by the organization. As a result of Browning's representations, the water committee of the association was authorized to join with similar committees of different civic and commercial organizations in seeking to obtain federal aid in financing the proposed flood control project.

In the matter of lighting up the coast highway during the Christmas holidays, President Huston asked for the cooperation of every community along the coast, and suggested that the chamber of commerce in each community hold a meeting next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing arrangements. He further suggested that this meeting be attended by representatives of the various civic organizations in each community.

Instead of appointing a nominating committee from the floor, Dr. Huston asked that the presidents and secretaries of the various chambers of commerce in the coast line cities constitute themselves a nominating committee, and submit recommendations for election of officers at the next meeting.

Leslie Kimmell, of Laguna Beach, chairman of the Christmas party entertainment, reported that elaborate arrangements have been completed for the big event to be held on December 18 at Seal Beach. During the dinner, he said, the guests will be entertained by a radio program, arranged especially as a courtesy gesture to the Orange County Coast association.

Church Dinner Set For Friday

BUENA PARK, Nov. 21.—Members of the Bible church, Seventh street and Stanton avenue, will hold a pot luck dinner Friday night, with the Rev. Frank Lindgren, pastor Calvary church, Santa Ana, as principal speaker. The public is invited to attend.

Members of the Ambassadors club of the church held their weekly dinner meeting Monday night, with "How the Bible Gets Ahead of Science" as the topic of discussion.

The Sunday morning service and Sunday school have been combined into one service from 10 to 11:45 o'clock.

LATE PICTURES GIVEN REVIEW BY P.-T.A. GROUP

Comment on motion pictures recently released which were viewed by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, was released today through Mrs. W. M. Hollingsworth, chairman of the motion picture committee of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers. The recommendations on the films previewed follows:

"Cheating Cheaters." Universal production with Fay Wray, Caesar Romero, Francis L. Sullivan and Hugh O'Connell. "A Consistently mediocre production. Adults fair, 8-18 no."

"Cleopatra." Paramount production with Claudette Colbert, Warren Williams and Henry Wilcoxon. "At no time does this production become absorbing entertainment but remains rather an interesting exhibition such as one sees in peering through a kaleidoscope. Adults, interesting; 14-18, possibly; 8-14, too mature."

"Hell in the Heavens." Fox production with Warner Baxter, Conchita Montenegro, Herbert Mundin, J. Carroll Nash, Ralph Morgan and Russell Hardie. "A vivid production, is well acted and very well directed. Adults stimulating; 14-18 very intense, 8-14, no."

"Six Day Bike Rider." Warner-Fine National production with Joe E. Brown, Maxine Doyle and Frank McHugh. "Thrills and spills motivate a plot of this small town comedy played around a bicycle race. Family and junior matinee. Adults amusing; 8-18 yes."

"Woman in the Dark." RKO production with Fay Wray, Ralph Bellamy, Melvyn Douglas, Roscoe Ates and Nell O'Day. "Crude, unreal and unpleasant melodrama. Adults waste of time, 8-18 no."

FINE CHORAL CLUB PROGRAM PLEASES MANY

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Stray melodies and lovely harmonies today sang in the minds of those so fortunate as to have heard last night in Orange Union High school auditorium, the concert with which Cantando club members opened their ninth consecutive season. For the program was one of mellow beauty and fine balance from the tender reverence of its opening number, "Morning Hymn" (Henshel) to the majesty and vigor of Rachmaninoff's "Glorious Forever" with which it came to a close.

There were many in the audience who felt that this chorus of which Santa Ana and the community is so justly proud, rose to its finest heights of the evening in "Carpathian Folk Song." Unqualified approval also was expressed for the delicate "I Love the Moon" (Paul Rubens) which was demanded in repetition by the audience and for three folks songs, all of which had to be repeated by the chorus before the enthusiastic audience was satisfied.

These were "Reapers' Song," a Bohemian folk song arranged by Homer Harbour; the stirring air of Bonnie Scotland, "The Campbells are Coming" and the Negro spiritual, "Joshua Fit de Battle ob Jericho" arranged by Harvey Gaul. The first two of this group were given with accompaniments for four hands, with Dudley Page Harper assisting Ruth Armstrong, official club accompanist. The Negro spiritual had a solo part beautifully sung by Frank Pierce, who was given tremendous applause as was the work of the ensemble.

Other chorus numbers were the Salter arrangement of "The Trumpeter" (Dix) with its suggestion of bugle calls to stir the blood; "Calm As the Night" by Carl Bohm, serenely beautiful; "Good King Wenceslas" (Lefebvre arrangement) and Dudley Buck's translation of "Creation's Hymn" by Sachs, with its staccato opening measures.

Balancing the beauty of the chorus performance was that of the guest artist, Mary Teitworth, soprano, and a native daughter of Los Angeles who adds to that city's musical fame. Enhancing the charm of her clear and beautifully trained soprano, and her personality, was her diction and enunciation, in which each work was clear cut and true, so that no values were lost by cloudiness.

In her first group of the evening, she followed the aria, "De-puis le jour" from Charpentier's opera "Louise," with a gay little French number by Gevaert, "Arlette de Richard Cœur de Lion" of which she gave a general translation, "The Nightingales of Lincoln's Inn" by Oliver, was one of the memorable features of the evening, and when Miss Teitworth closed this group with the dramatic "Life" by Curran, she was not permitted to leave the stage until she responded with an encore, choosing the gay and saucy little "Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be" (Bucks arrangement).

In her second group, the great artist scored a similar success and paid graceful compliment to her host club by singing Kreisler's "The Old Refrain," directly to the Cantando club, "To Stay at Home is Best" (Mednikoff) followed, and then "Clouds" by Charles, so delicate and so lovely that the soloist was required to repeat it for her pleased audience. Hageman's "We Company Along" closed the group with the exception of an encore, demanded and received in the form of "Love is a Beggar" by Robin-

Max Baer professes to believe that his "little" brother, Buddy, who weighs in the neighborhood of 245 pounds, will be world champion within four years.

Baer makes a thumbnail sketch of himself in describing the youngest member of the family.

"Buddy is a terrific biter, and can take it," says the Butterfly Butcher Boy.

The occasion for Baer's prediction was presented following the 18-year-old Buddy's knockout victory in the first round of his sixth start in Los Angeles on his eighth night, when four knockdowns put a lily in the hand of one Gene Garner.

It's much too early to gauge Buddy's possibilities, but I disagree with those who discount his chances due to his being the brother of an outstanding performer.

If the baby Baer is to be handicapped, I rather suspect that it will be due to his size when he is fully matured. Fighters can be too big.

Jess Willard fared very well, but was fortunate in having to make comparatively few fights against mediocre competition, and catching the prize fight, Jack Johnson, in none too good shape, and when currency meant much more than the crown.

Prime Carners had the boys fooled for a time, but went like the other large ones when hit solidly. There is nothing quite as pitiable as a glove dreadnaught on the deck. There is so much of him to be picked up on wobbly pins.

FAMILIES RARELY REPEAT

But to get back to blood lines, they don't count much in any kind of athletic endeavor. Ty Cobb's son plays tennis; Connie Mack's basketball, etc. Ping-pong and quoits have been the most strenuous sport of brothers of All-America backs.

Brother cauliflower combinations have been rare, but that is quite understandable, particularly when you consider the current crop. You can count the top flight pugilists on the fingers of one hand. Obviously, it is problem enough for any family to produce one Baer, McLarnin or Ross.

While record books are cluttered up with names of those who developed round heels attempting to follow in the footsteps of illustrious brothers, more than one member of a family frequently have risen to great heights.

Mike and Tom Gibbons could fight like blazes. So could Abe and Monte Attell, and Jack and Mike

LONDOS IS PERPETUAL MOTION

College Issues Poster As Plug For 'Tuffy' Leemans

DUTRA EXPLODES GOLF THEORY

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Invention department: Scientific circles were a-buzz today with the report that Ed White, manager of Jim Londos, was seeking a patent on a perpetual motion machine called the "Gyroscopic Greek."

"It ain't started while I been around it," White is quoted as saying. "It wrestled in Dallas, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimore in the last nine days. And it's been doing that for years."

Financial department: Jim Londos is not called the "Golden Greek" for nothing. 1934 has not been his best one by any means, but when it is over he will have added a near $500,000 to his kick.

Question and answer department: How long will professional tennis continue to flourish? A. Until Grandpa Tilden quits, when it will roll over and die in its own blood.

High pressure department: The publicity director of George Washington U. is circulating a poster plugging "Tuffy" Leemans for All-America, of a size and content worthy of Dexter Follows heralding the addition of a sabre-fencer, ring-tailed, nine-toothed, three-headed giraffe, which can cook and sew.

Shoe on other foot departments: Princetonians who pooh-poohed the suggestion that Columbia's defeat by the Tigers last year was largely due to Maniac's fumble on the opening kick-off, should note the chief alibi given for Princeton's poor performance against Yale. It was Sandbach's fumble on the opening kick-off, Princeton men have pointed out, that started the upset of the year.

Who cares department: The rules committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association, it is rumored, met in solemn convocation the other night to put the old quietus on a certain organization's application to conduct a tournament in which players would be limited to one service.

Sad failure of protege department: Freddy Murray, Pennsylvania's quarterback, had three chances to kick Penn out of de-

JAYSEE CAGERS REPORT: THREE REGULARS GONE

Baseball practice for Santa Ana junior college will be called by Coaches Bill Cook and Blanchard Beatty for 7 o'clock tonight in Andrews gymnasium on the high school campus.

Seldom have the Dons began their court drills before December, but Cook is falling in line with other conference mentors in launching an early start. He plans to arrange a practice game—and perhaps two—for next week.

Returning from the 1934 football squad will be two regulars, Bob Schwarm, lanky guard, and Harold Youel, a clever forward, along with Frank Kroener, Walt Gunther, Sam Tucker and Ben Slavin. Football players will not report until after the grid season.

The Dons will miss Ed Bragg, Alex Clark and Clair Preininger, mainstays of the 1934 quintet. Bragg and Clark completed two years of competition last season, while Preininger transferred to the University of Arizona in September.

Santa Ana's success in 1935 will hinge on the development of freshman talent, which is supposed to be plentiful. A trio of prep stars from Kansas—Hal Pottorf, John Henry and "Red" Collier—will report, and it is understood that Walt Hendrie, star forward for Santa Ana HI last February, will join the Dons. Wilson Seacord, Tustin regular; Eric Cliff, former Colorado star; and Gil York, former Saint reserve, are other court prospects. All are out for football at present.

Assistant Coach Beatty, a graduate of U. S. C., is an experienced basketball player, having represented the Dons several seasons ago.

The Eastern conference season begins early in January.

FEE TOP SCORER OF COUNTY GRID SEASON

Wally Fee, Anaheim left halfback, retained until the finish his lead over Tustin's Dean Francis for the 1934 individual scoring championship of the Orange County League, final statistics today revealed.

Fee made nine touchdowns for a total of 54 points. Francis closed with seven touchdowns and 42 points. Bob Forbes of Tustin and Oliver McCarter of Orange were third and fourth. The figures:

	T	C	Total
Fee, Anaheim	9	0	54
Francis, Tustin	7	0	42
Forbes, Tustin	4	0	24
McCarter, Orange	4	0	24
Larson, Anaheim	3	0	18

GROVE 'BEES' MEET SANTA MONICA NEXT

Garden Grove High school's Class B football team, county league champion, goes into the C. I. F. playoffs Friday afternoon against Santa Monica, winner of the Bay league lightweight race. The teams will meet in Garden Grove, at 2:30.

Beaten only by Venice in an early season non-conference game, Santa Monica boasts victories over Compton, Inglewood, San Pedro, Woodrow Wilson and Redondo Beach, Hollywood and Culver City. Inglewood was the only school in the Bay league to score on Santa Monica.

Fullerton Would Take On Vaqueros

FULLERTON, Nov. 21.—There is a slight possibility that Fullerton high school's football team will play a post-season game with Santa Barbara, if arrangements can be completed early this week. It was announced today. Otherwise the Indians will turn in their suits and call it quits for the season.

GRIDIRON BRIEFS

CORVALLIS, Ore.—Hoping to win "for Red Farquhar," the Oregon State squad leaves today for Los Angeles to meet U. S. C. in their last conference game and the last appearance on the coast of the fast-moving Franklin, ace halfback.

PULLMAN, Wash.—Washington State strategy will pit Ed Goddard's ability to carry punts back against Elmer Long's long distance kicking in the State University of Washington game Saturday. Cougar coaches think Goddard's punt returns will offset any advantage the Huskies may obtain from Long's 55 and 60 yard punts.

LOS ANGELES—Howard Jones is still juggling his Southern California schedule in today's lineup included Beard and Sander at the guard posts. The Trojan mentor has 10 days to experiment before the next game.

SOMETHING THE '90'S BEGAN!

Pomona and Occidental football teams battle in their thirty-seventh football classic Saturday on Patterson field, Eagle Rock, Oxy's home turf. Below are some of the principals of this oldest of Southern California athletic contests.

Traditional football rivalry will be the offering on Occidental college field Saturday afternoon at 2:15 when the Bengals face Pomona college in the thirty-seventh annual renewal of the oldest collegiate rivalry in California.

These belligerent foes first met in 1895. During the intervening years Pomona has a slight edge in games won, boasting 19 victories to Oxy's 16, with one tie.

As far as season records go, neither team has an advantage this year. Oxy upset Redlands, 12-6, Pomona tied Redlands and lost to the Gauchos. On the other hand, the Sageshens licked Caltech, 26-0, while Caltech upset Oxy, 7-6.

If it comes to a matter of converting after a touchdown, look for Oxy to triumph, for two years ago it was Hal McMillan, now captain of the Bengals, who was rushed into the fray to convert after a brace of touchdowns and turned the trick, giving the Eagle Rock team a 14-13 victory. Last year's score was 19-3, with Pomona on top.

NOTRE DAME HAVING TROUBLE

Layden's 'New Deal' Hardly Rockne's 'Old Deal'

YOUNG LEADER TOO HESITANT

BY HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor NEA Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Far be it from me to criticize any coach, particularly one whose varsity sandwiched decisive victories over Purdue, Carnegie Tech, Wisconsin and Northwestern between being nosed out by Texas and Navy and jolly well shellacked by Pittsburgh.

But in the interests of true reporting it is my painful duty to relate that Notre Dame men still are unable to recognize their football team. In the Pittsburgh party at least, they found it utterly impossible to distinguish the Irish athletes from a lot of other fellows.

So it is that a good many of them are beginning to suspect that the "new deal" at South Bend is a flop, for the first year at least. It wasn't the 19-0 score by which Notre Dame succumbed to Pittsburgh. It was the way the Old Gold and Light Blue looked in taking the pasting.

Offhand, I would say that it has been a long while since an opposing array has run 65 yards to one touchdown, 55 to another, and combined sprints of 36 and 26 with a line buck for a third, in a single afternoon against Notre Dame.

TACKLING, BLOCKING POOR

On each occasion, the ball carriers should have been downed, two, three, or more Irish tacklers having their hands on Sheddocky, Nickick and Weisenbaugh, the young men who ruined the day for the South Bend rooters.

One heard reporters dictating detail speak of "yawning gaps" in the Notre Dame line, of rival forwards slipping through. Frequently there was a pair of Panther arms around the Irish ball carrier before the latter could take a step.

On the defense, Notre Dame's interference was ragged. Blockers seemed to run better skelter, and consequently failed to pick off their men.

"The game will be even after Pittsburgh scores 37 points," said Elmer Layden, the thin man entrusted with the mission of restoring South Bend's gridiron prestige, before the battle.

That didn't sound like a Notre Dame coach, but subsequent developments proved Layden a remarkably accurate prognosticator.

SHOULD PICK FIRST STRING

After five defeats and a tie in 1933, Notre Dame men really shouldn't be disappointed on the Irish showing to date.

Notre Dame men can take it, but they would like to see a Notre Dame team play Notre Dame football. In none of the games in which I saw them did any of "Hunk" Anderson's squads look as bad as did Layden's club against Pittsburgh.

Layden apparently is making a mistake often made by coaches suddenly blessed with a world of material for the first time.

"They all have their weaknesses," Layden explained.

Most football players have, but the wise coach selects those with the fewest, and gives them time to get used to each other.

The Pittsburgh game gave unmistakable signs that Layden failed to learn at least this one important secret of the immortal Knute Rockne. Rockne was quick to pick the most formidable combination on the campus, drill it to perfection, and stick to it in the tight spots.

CHANGES CAUSE CONFUSION

Pittsburgh first scored after

STANFORD SURE OF NOMINATION IF VICTORIOUS

PALO ALTO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Banning student raids and the sloshing of paint on rival campuses, President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford university threatened to halt the annual "Big Game" between Stanford and California if student enthusiasm causes damage.

Rumors were prevalent both here and at Berkeley that students planned raids before the game Saturday.

"If it comes to a case of members of each university invading the rival campus to deface the church or other buildings, it will mean no more football," was the statement of Dr. Wilbur.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The Pacific Coast's representative in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, New Year's day probably will be announced Saturday night, officials of the Pacific Coast conference said today.

A telegraphic vote of Pacific Coast conference members will be taken immediately after the Stanford-California and Washington-Washington State games.

While neither Stanford nor Washington State has been beaten in conference play, it was believed that should both win Saturday Stanford will be chosen because of its undefeated record through the season.

Washington State has lost two outside games. The conference champion, traditionally the east entrant in the classic, also picks the Eastern team it desires as its opponent.

Tucker Rejoins Dons; He May Face La Verne

Return of injured Sammy Tucker, stellar running guard, to the regular lineup after an absence of several days, encouraged Santa Ana Jaysee's football squad at Poly field today as Coach Bill Cook's Dons began concentrating on their "make or break" football game at Fullerton Thanksgiving Day. The collection practiced on the high school turf again and were tentatively slated to scrimmage Coach Bill Foote's Saints.

Provided the sun continues to shine, the rain-soaked turf at the Municipal Bowl will be in condition for the Dons tomorrow. They face the La Verne college freshmen in a night game here Friday.

Bothered by an infected knee, Tucker has been unable to practice ever since the San Bernardino game Nov. 10. But he was in suit yesterday, and probably will see action against La Verne, although Coach Cook will not take any chances on getting him injured.

Despite their game that night, the Dons may hold a regular workout Friday afternoon in preparation for Fullerton.

WOOLEN MILLS FIVE CINCHES HOOP TITLE

Woollen Mills 5 0 1000
Cook-Patterson 2 2 350
Garlock Service 2 2 350
Irvine Warehouse 1 3 250
Goodyear Tires 1 3 250
Union Oil 0 4 000

Completing their schedule with five consecutive victories, the undefeated Woollen Mills players won the first-half championship of the Santa Ana Commercial basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. last night, although they were held to a one-point victory in their final game with the Goodyear Tire quintet, 23-22.

With the count docketed at 10-all at the half, the champion margin in the third quarter, 17-Mills team built up a narrow 15, and was outpointed in the final period, 7-6.

A game between Wayne Garlock's all-star and Union Oil was postponed until Friday night. The Cook-Patterson quintet, in second place behind the Mills, plays Irvine tonight.

The lineup:
Woollen Mills: (23) (22) Goodyear Stephen (4) F. (3) Cliff White (10) C. (7) Lacy Wiener (7) C. (8) McHenry Fikel G. (1) Falls McClesney (1) Gaspar

Substitutions:
Woollen Mills—McDonald (3) for Stephen; Stephens for McDonald for White, White for Wiener.
Goodyear Tires—Levens for Cliff, Warren (2) for Gaspar.

Georgia Coleman, Diving Champion, Plans 'Comeback'

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Apparently on the road to complete recovery after a serious head operation, Georgia Coleman, former Olympic diving champion, is determined to walk the springboards again.

Miss Coleman has been released from New England Baptist hospital after undergoing an operation on the pituitary gland to relieve a condition causing face-swelling.

The summer is expected to convalesce in her native California.

Broncos, Gaels Frown on Grid 'Rematch'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—(UP)—The San Francisco Knights of Columbus charity committee today awaited word from St. Mary's college and University of Santa Clara to its proposal that the football eleven of the choosy play another game here in December.

While neither school has replied officially, from private sources it was learned that the plan will be rejected, despite the unsatisfactory conditions under which the teams played last Sunday, when St. Mary's won, 7-0, on a muddy field.

Tentative dates for the proposed game were set as Dec. 16 and Dec. 23. Santa Clara will have returned from a meeting with Texas Christian at Fort Worth only a few days before the earlier date. Coach Maurice ("Clipper") Smith is said to regard that date as not permitting time to get his team in shape. Coach Edward ("Slip") Madigan of St. Mary's is reported to consider either date too close to Christmas.

Matchmaker "Bud" Rutledge today announced the complete lineup for tomorrow night's amateur boxing program at the Orange County Athletic club.

Nine bouts are listed on the card, and Rutledge promises two or three extra events. There will be no wrestling.

The main event matches Manuel Martinez, star of last week's charity show, against Danny Moscow, recent knockout conqueror of Jo-Jo Veney, the Chicago Golden Gloves champion. Martinez scored a spectacular victory over Art Arroya last Thursday.

The semi-final will be between Bob Griffin and Lupe (Young) Lemon, 175-pound light heavyweights.

The rest of the card:
"Sonny Boy" Williams, Los Angeles, vs. Bob Epps, San Pedro, 170 pounds;
Ross Ruelaz, Pico, vs. Danny Moreno, El Modena, 115 pounds.
Art Anderson, Long Beach, vs. Joe Rivera, Anaheim, 115 pounds.
Al Cisneros, Pico, vs. Jess Sanchez, Talbert, 125 pounds;
Howard Anderson, Long Beach, vs. Buddy Nelson, Los Angeles, 138 pounds;
Charles Grier, Los Angeles, vs. Norman Kaup, Anaheim, 150 pounds;
Jack Montrose, Los Angeles, vs. Tim Alexander, Long Beach, 128 pounds.

FOUR CIRCLES OF AID GROUP PLAN BAZAAR

ORANGE, Nov. 21.—Four circles of the Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist church met Tuesday to complete plans for the bazaar and dinner to be held December 5 and to finish articles for the event.

Circle No. 1 met in the home of Mrs. L. W. Hemphill, Tustin, and a covered dish dinner was served at noon. Games were in charge of Mrs. W. A. Brown and a reading was given by Miss Emma Corson. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Henry Gallon. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held in the home of Mrs. Floyd Arnold on East Culver avenue. Mrs. J. W. Bomby presided.

Present were Mesdames Bomby, C. L. Scriven, Carl Stuckey, Henry Gallon, Cora Reynolds, J. A. Green, J. B. Kilgore, Myrtle Pierce, W. A. Brown, Helen Allis, Eliza White, Sarah Yost, Eva Mody, Lila Moore, Sarah Downs, Nettie Rozell, Miss Emma Corson and Miss Harriet Corson. Guests were Mrs. Cora Brady of Whittier, L. W. Hemphill and George Moody.

Circle No. 2
Plans for a Christmas party to be held December 18 at the home of Mrs. Martha McDaniels were made when members of circle No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Syester, 253 South Olive street. Numerous bouquets of autumn flowers were used in decorating the home.

After a luncheon served cafeteria style, a business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Clara Whiteman, during which time a letter of greeting was sent to Mrs. C. H. Adams, one of the members, who is ill. Devotionals were led by Miss Lelah Fernald.

Those present were Mrs. Clara Whiteman, Mrs. Amelia Hart, Mrs. Susie Teasdale, Mrs. Lela Lucas, Mrs. Lela Vaughn, Mrs. A. R. Fernald, Mrs. Alice Evans, Miss Lelah Fernald, Mrs. Myrtle Irwin, Miss Jennie Evans, Mrs. Emma Moore, Mrs. Martha McDaniels, Mrs. J. J. Wakers, Mrs. W. T. Circle No. 3
Members of circle No. 3 were entertained in the Trabuco canyon home of Mrs. Fred Schwendeman. Mrs. W. H. Erwin resigned as president and Mrs. Mina Swenson was appointed to fill her place. Mrs. Claudia Royer, Mrs. Erwin and Mrs. Bertha Murphy were appointed as sewing committee.

The Christmas party of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. Boyer with Mrs. W. Parks as co-hostess. Gifts are to be exchanged. The party will be held on the regular meeting day on December 18. A covered dish luncheon was served.

Guests present were Mrs. Sadie J. Horton, P. I. Bird, W. H. Erwin and J. R. Kenyon. Members present were Mesdames J. R. Kenyon, W. W. Parks, B. J. Glanville, Emma Simmons, Anna Christensen, M. M. Fishback, Carrie Lane, S. M. Patton, Bertha Murphy, Mina Swenson, Fred Schwendeman and Miss Tessie Winters.

Circle No. 4
Mrs. G. L. Scriven was hostess at her East Walnut home to members of circle No. 4. Lovely bouquets of garden flowers decked the home for the occasion, which was devoted to sewing on articles for the church bazaar.

Following a covered dish luncheon served cafeteria style, a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Roy Cavett, during which time it was decided to hold no meetings during December. Devotionals were led by Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss.

Members present included Mrs. H. Z. Sawyer, Mrs. Sophia Lusk, Dr. and Mrs. James Edwin Dunning, Mrs. Jennie Archibald, Mrs. Daisy Proffitt, Mrs. Charles Runbeck, Mrs. May Parsons, Miss Elsie Parsons, Mrs. A. G. FEDERAL LOANS OUTLINED FOR FARM CENTER

ORANGE, Nov. 21.—W. D. Miller, secretary of the Orange county office of the Production Credit association, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the West Orange Farm center at the West Orange school Tuesday night, reviewing the establishment of the association by an act of Congress in 1933, after farm interests had been summoned to Washington in consultation with government representatives.

"Since the establishment of the Orange county office 200 applications have been made for loans and $259,000 loaned," Miller said. "The past season these loans have been liquidated with the exception of less than $30,000 now outstanding. Loans for 1935 are now being made for orange, lemon and field crops, with interest at five per cent."

Miller traced the establishment of the association in 11 districts in the United States, with headquarters for the 11th, which serves California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, at Berkeley. Miller said local loans are now being closed in as short a time as six days. Incorporated for $250,000, loans for five times this amount or $1,250,000 may be made here, Miller pointed out.

Dinner was served previous to the program and hostesses were Mrs. H. J. Hinrichs, Mrs. William Hofer, Mrs. Peter Ficken and Mrs. Coulter.

Highlights of the California Farm Bureau federation convention was given by H. J. Hinrichs, the home department report by Mrs. Perry Groat and the directors' report by Joe Witt. A. L. Schroeder, president, presided. A motion picture, "Sunkist Speaks," was shown.

dona, and E. J. Bandick, of West Orange.

The organization now has 136 members. It was reported by V. D. Johnson, secretary. Funds received this year were $3015, $80 more than received last year, it was reported.

Lutheran Choir To Give Program On Friday Night

ORANGE, Nov. 21.—Under the direction of their director, E. T. Pingle, a varied program of secular selections will be presented Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Immanuel Social hall by members of the Immanuel Lutheran choir.

Numbers will be presented by the choir, a mixed chorus, a male chorus and a female chorus. Soloists for the evening will be Mrs. W. Kietke, Miss Althea Lemke, Miss Margaret Habener and Ralph Shannon. Irma Pryer will serve as accompanist.

The public is cordially invited to attend. A free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the choir's treasury.

OLIVE P.-T.A. IN MOVE FOR NEW LIBRARY

OLIVE, Nov. 21.—Plans for a community library were furthered and five Scout leaders appointed at the regular monthly meeting of the Olive Parent-Teacher association held Tuesday evening in the Olive Grammar school in observance of fathers' night. Mrs. G. B. Greder was appointed chairman of the library committee, which will give a detailed report on the possibilities of a community library at the next P.-T.-A. meeting.

Boy Scout leaders appointed by Harry Riehl, Purl Shell, E. C. Conger, F. Fairbairn and Frank Pister. Mrs. Cora McClellan, president of the association, presided.

Under the direction of Ray Spangh, principal of the school and chairman of the fathers' council, an interesting program was presented, with Miss Eloise A. Hafford of the Ruth Home, of El Monte, delivering the principal address of the evening on the subject of "The Responsibility of the Community to the Adolescent."

A short talk was also given by Mrs. W. T. Kivren, president of the Fourth District P.-T.-A.

A piano solo, "On the Banks of the Danube," was played by Miss Margaret Kreidt, who also accompanied Ray Hill who sang, "Rise, O Sun." "Berceuse from Jocelyn" was played at the piano by Lloyd Robins.

A feature of the evening was three short talks given by members of the Santa Ana Toastmasters' club. Charles Schwab spoke on "Crusades for Better," while Paul Roberts presented a talk on "Haddad." James Anderson spoke briefly on "The Friendly Turn Toward the Youthful Movement."

'Y' GROUP HOLDS DINNER PROGRAM

ORANGE, Nov. 21.—With more than 100 boys present, members of Hi-Y chapter No. 4 were hosts at a dinner given Tuesday evening in the basement of the First Presbyterian church for members of other Orange chapters. Special guests of the evening included members of the Orange Y. M. C. A. board and a group of the older Hi Y boys from Anaheim, accompanied by their leader, Conrad Jongeward, secretary of the Orange county "Y" council.

It was announced that the older boys' conference will be held in Redlands November 31 to December 2. Group singing was led by Paul Campbell, with the Rev. T. Palmquist, of San Francisco, who also presented the principal ad-resses of the evening on boys' work, at the piano.

Accompanied at the piano by Miss Jeanice Winget, George Cos-sair sang "When Big Profundo Sang Low C" and "Keep one Hopin'." Invocation was given by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay.

The dinner was served under the direction of the chapter Mothers' club of which Mrs. Fred Krohe is president. Harold Gorton is leader of host chapter.

BOARD REVEALS OBJECTIONS TO SCHOOL GUARDS

The proposed SERRA project to supply unemployed men with jobs into several snags at the meeting yesterday of the county supervisors, who were supposed to sponsor the project.

One was the matter of responsibility for injury to guards, which was finally solved by a letter from Terrence Halloran, SERRA director, which was interpreted as an assumption of responsibility by the SERRA.

Another snag was the unwillingness of Sheriff Logan Jackson to deputize guards unless he could personally approve of their fitness for authority as deputy sheriffs. The board backed up the sheriff in this position.

Members of the board were further disinclined toward the project by fear of "after effects." Supervisor Leroy Lyon pointed out that crossing guards might create a situation in which the school children would learn to depend upon the guards for safety from traffic at crossings, and when the guards were removed, would be unable to look after themselves.

No definite action was taken.

SUPERVISORS BUY 4 AUTOS AND TRACTORS

Purchase of two tractors and two automobiles, to replace present equipment of the county highway department, was authorized by the county supervisors late yesterday.

The make or price of new tractors and cars was not specified. Old equipment will be traded in on the new, it was said.

The board authorized Chairman Willard Smith and Clerk J. M. Backs to sign supplemental agreements with the Pacific Electric Railway company, extending to May 25, 1935, the time allowed the railroad for providing a temporary road crossing near El Moro station, between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach.

BOARD ORDERS SURVEY MADE ON STOP SIGNS

A complete survey of boulevard stop signs at Orange county highway intersections, for the purpose of eliminating those that may be unnecessary, and installing such signs where traffic conditions require them, was projected by the county supervisors late yesterday.

A committee to consist of Superintendent of Highways Nat H. Neff, and representatives of the California Highway Patrol, the state highway commission and the Auto Club of Southern California, was proposed in a motion by Supervisor Leroy Lyon which was passed by the board, authorizing the survey.

Recommendations of the proposed committee will be adopted by the board, it was understood. Action on the survey was taken because of informal complaints heard by the board regarding lack of stop signs at some intersections and unnecessary stop signs at other crossings.

Dinner Affair Held For Scouts

TUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Girl Scouts who were at Pineapple lodge at Camp Rockli this summer were guests recently of Miss Virginia Pafford at a delightful dinner party at her home on Third street.

Following a two-course supper served at 8:30 o'clock by the young hostess' mother, Mrs. O. W. Pafford, a series of games were enjoyed. Miss Beth Francis won the missing word contest and Miss Betty Brooks was winner in the balancing contest.

Girl Scouts present were the Misses Marguerite McCarty, Marilyn Plavin, Betty Hudson and Dorothy Ashford, of Santa Ana; Betty Kellams, Beth Francis and Betty Jane Timmons and the hostess, Virginia Pafford, of Tustin. Special guests were the Misses Betty Brooks and Elizabeth Campbell, of Tustin.

EDUCATOR GIVES STATISTICS TO SHOW MODERATE DRINKER REAL MENACE IN TRAFFIC

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Proof that even the moderate drinker is a menace to safety while driving an automobile, was pointed out by Dr. N. Evert Kendig, dean of the School of Pharmacy of Temple University, in an address to the school during which he said that even one drink of liquor "enormously increases the probabilities of an accident."

From laboratory experiments, Dr. Kendig said, it is shown that under normal conditions it requires one-fifth of a second for a person to complete a physical reaction to the mental stimulus. In other words, from the time the driver of a car sees an object to the time the wheel is turned or the brake applied, one-fifth of a second elapses in normal persons.

However, experiments further show that the drinking of even a moderate amount of alcohol so slows up the reaction that the elapsed time doubles or even triples. "An automobile traveling at the rate of 45 miles per hour moves forward about 12 feet every one-fifth of a second, or more than the average car length," Dr. Kendig said. "One drink of whiskey, or one pint of beer consumed will increase the elapsed time from the eye to the wheel or brake up to as much as four-fifths of a second."

"If the time is increased just two-fifths of a second, the car travels 24 feet farther than normal expectation before the driver starts to apply the brakes. Therefore, if a child suddenly runs into the road, the driver who has had a drink is much more likely to have an accident than is a non-drinker."

"Some motorists realize the danger of taking one or two drinks and public sentiment soon will force the others to learn. The law and a desire for personal safety are arrayed against permitting a man to drive so potential a juggernaut as the modern automobile when he is under the influence, however slight, of beer, wine, whiskey or gin."

In spite of the fact that during the first nine months of this year, there has been an increase of 93 per cent in automobile accidents in Pennsylvania in which liquor was a contributing factor, Dr. Kendig feels that citizens of the state are not drinking as much today as formerly, and that they have no desire to.

"In this industrial age," he said, "the character of the great majority of gainful occupations, such as farming with machinery, factory employment, railroad, air transportation and the like, prevent drinking during working hours. Then there are the athletic, cultural and moral restraints operating in the hours of leisure, all of which explain why thousands of young men and women are not drinking, Dr. Kendig concluded."

The present world wool consumption is the smallest it has been in 10 years.

STUDENTS TELL BENEFITS FROM NEWS READING

A wider knowledge of events, improved English and better reading are three leading benefits to students who read the Santa Ana Register, according to results of a test made among 66 Julia Lathrop Junior High school students who have used The Register in class study.

The benefits were listed by the students themselves, in reporting to Principal H. G. Nelson the results of their newspaper study. The Register being the newspaper used. No leading questions were asked, the students submitting their own analysis of results.

Twenty-seven of the 66 students reported a wider knowledge of happenings. Improved English was reported by the next largest group, 25; while 24 reported they had improved in reading, in more reading, or in speed.

Those who had gained understanding of the classifying of newspaper articles formed the fourth largest group, 21. Improved composition was reported by 13, and a better understanding of newspaper material was claimed by 13.

Others reports were: better understanding of material read—4; learned a lot—3; better knowledge of parts of speech—2; how to start a news story—2; increased vocabulary, better organization of material, deeper interest in reading, how to look for a news story, how to choose between good and bad reading matter, formed better reading habits, easier to find what is looked for in paper, and better knowledge of what constitutes news—1 each.

One student reported that he found material in The Register for class work in other subjects. Another reported that he found material in The Register was a good way to use spare time.

Santiago Creek Park Project Approved BySERA Board

PLAN TO GIVE WORK TO 350 MOVES FORWARD

Marking the first official step by the SERA in the construction of a large recreational park along the wide bed of the Santiago creek, members of the Orange county SERA committee yesterday afternoon, among six other projects, approved one sponsored by the board of supervisors calling for launching of work on the park project.

The park project which was proposed by the Santa Ana Lions club originally and which since has been visioned by SERA as an excellent long-time project to provide work for hundreds of men. It is the largest project ever approved by the local SERA, calling for an initial expenditure of $65,000. Of this amount, the SERA would spend $60,000 for labor and the county the balance for materials and supervision.

Another project approved at yesterday afternoon's meeting, sponsored by the county of Orange, was to replace open concrete lined ditch with 24-inch steel pipe to give added road width on Kraemer avenue. The project would give work to 35 men at a cost to SERA of $1500 and to the county of $4199.

The county sponsored another project to remove existing concrete ditch, to make and install about 2000 feet of 30 inch concrete pipe on Pioneer avenue. The project would cost SERA $3976 and the sponsor $2053 and would give work to 35 persons.

A project for clearing land by grubbing out 325 orange trees and grading and leveling the land submitted by the Valencia High school district was approved. This project would give work to 11 persons at a cost of $2226 to SERA and $740 to the sponsor. The city of Fullerton turned in a project providing for cementing and protecting the sides of the Brea creek at Spadra road, Malen avenue, Highland avenue, Ford avenue and Richmond avenue and to make repairs to the channel at designated locations between Spadra road and Basque avenue. It also provided for the construction of a fence with rock pillars at Commonwealth park in Fullerton. The project, which would give work to 35 men, would cost SERA $9555.50 and the sponsor $3436.33.

A project was submitted by the city of San Clemente for installation of new water lines, grading and installation of walks along the beach. This project would cost SERA $4384 and the sponsor $1807.69, giving work to 11 men.

TURKEY GROWERS TO MEET DEC. 4

A meeting of representative turkey growers of Southern California is set for 9:30 a. m., December 4, at the Citrus Experiment station, Riverside, it was announced today. It is called for the purpose of considering the advisability of applying for assistance in the stabilization of their product under the California Prorate Act.

The supply of turkeys to be marketed this season is quite large, which, together with the supply in cold storage, will tend to demoralize the market unless the product is marketed in an orderly fashion, the announcement said. By prorating producers' shipments, the grower will be in a better position to market only those birds which are in proper condition and retain for further finishing those which need it. Operating under the prorate agreement, growers will not be inclined to market their entire production at one time but will retain greater confidence in the market. This should offer to the public a better finished bird for their holiday and post holiday use, it was stated.

Turkey growers wishing to attend the meeting are asked to communicate with W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Court Notes

Five suits to quiet title to oil lots at Huntington Beach were on file today in superior court, four of them naming the Standard Oil company as defendant. Plaintiffs in these four suits were C. G. Crosby and others; Blanche Robinson. Harve M. Barcus and others; C. G. Crosby, J. G. Allen and others. The fifth suit was filed by C. G. Crosby, J. G. Allen and others. The fifth suit was filed by C. G. Crosby, Sarah Green and others, against J. E. Hall and other defendants.

Judgment for $2073.43 alleged to be due on two notes was asked by the Appling Collection company in a suit filed in superior court yesterday against Thomas Jessup and Harry E. Jessup.

The New Deal and the Joneses

TYPICAL FAMILY PONDERERS SECURITY FOR AGED, ILL, JOBLESS

This is the third chapter of a continued story in which members of a typical American family discuss the many phases of the New Deal and the good and the bad of what's happening as it appears to the Joneses. Follow the story daily for a better insight into the recovery program's far-reaching effects.

BY WILLIS THORNTON CHAPTER 3

"THERE was a letter came today asking us to join some Old Age Pension Association," said Ma Jones, pausing in her job of clearing away the supper dishes. "It's in there on the stand in the hall."

Pa Jones got the letter, and read it as he and his son sat down in the living room for their after-dinner smoke.

"Won't be long until your old man'll be needing something like this, I guess," he smiled, a little wryly, tossing the letter onto the table. "That's one of your new social ideas that's coming right along, isn't it?"

"Yes, but it's only one," replied John, Jr. "That teams right up along with unemployment insurance and some kind of sickness insurance. There's going to be a big effort to get all of them passed in this winter's Congress."

"Then we'll practically have Socialism, won't we?" commented Pa, a little sarcastically.

"Safeguard for Workers" "Nothing like," denied John, Jr. "Why, 16 European countries have had unemployment insurance almost ever since the World War. We'll only be falling into step."

"I don't see anything Socialistic about building up a fund while men are working to pay them something when they're laid off, especially if they contribute to it. Lots of companies do it now. And they don't call it Socialistic."

"Then when a lot of men are laid off, they'll have some little income. They won't just stop spending money entirely and that way cut the jobs out from under others, too?"

"Well, I can see something in that," admitted Pa Jones. "But I can't see where it helps the unemployed today. It only helps men at work to feel a little more secure."

"That depends on what kind of unemployment insurance is adopted," argued the son. "Of course, as a purely insurance plan, nobody could benefit except those who had worked and contributed to the fund."

"Cites English Example" "But maybe some of the money now going for relief could be distributed through a fund like that, and help get it started right away among men not now working."

"They did something like that in England, and you're always talking about England and how they're recovering without 'Socialism.' Nobody knows just what kind of plan is going to be proposed, but you know the president has suggested that ours be a purely insurance affair on a sound business basis, to benefit only those who have paid in their share of the funds. He wants to keep relief separate. A committee is studying all forms of such plans for him now."

This Committee on Economic Security, made up of cabinet members and others of the president's helpers, has been working on this since last spring, when the president promised such a plan would be given to Congress this winter.

Recently to the cabinet advisers were added 19 experts from industry, labor, medical, and social welfare groups. They have the advantage of being able to study such plans in Europe, giving them some idea of what will work and what won't, what is good and what bad. They have just started a series and girls getting through school every year and trying to get their first jobs. And most of them can't do it these days.

"If more people can quit their jobs at 60 or 65 without fear of starving, there'll be more jobs open to young fellows."

"If more people can quit their jobs at 60 or 65 without fear of starving there'll be more jobs open to young fellows."

"Then I take it that all this social security business won't help create jobs for the present unemployed at all," suggested Pa Jones.

"I don't think so, directly," admitted John Jr. "There are things aimed more at trying to prevent any more terrible bust-ups like we had in 1929. Both old age and unemployment plans would create large groups of people who could go on spending even if jobs slackened off—and that would help keep them from slacking off any more."

"These plans are aimed at leveling off the up-and-down aspect of business and jobs. The main thing it would do is make the jobs more secure after the unemployed get them. It won't create the jobs."

Ma Jones came in from the kitchen at this point, wiping her hands. "For goodness' sake, stop arguing, you boys," she said. "There's a good picture at the Bijou tonight. Let's all go!" (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEXT: The PWA—the Joneses consider the idea that if ordinary industry can't provide jobs, somebody must—and that somebody is the government.

HOLD ROUTINE SESSION TUSTIN, Nov. 21.—With City Clerk J. R. Harbour convalescing at his home on Prospect avenue from an attack of scarlet fever and Councilman Charles P. Logan away on a honeymoon trip following his recent marriage to Miss Frances Wilcox, only routine business was transacted at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night at the city hall. The regular monthly bills were ordered paid. Mayor William Huntley presided.

"Don't forget that there are a million and a half young fellows

COMPARISON OF SCHOOLS TO BE LECTURE TOPIC

A comparison of American public schools with those of Europe will be discussed by Dr. Madeline Ververka, chief of the Los Angeles elementary school curriculum, who will speak at Willard school auditorium tomorrow evening at 7:30.

Dr. Ververka is widely known for her outstanding work in the Los Angeles schools, according to Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education here, who arranged the speaking engagement of Dr. Ververka as one of the Thursday night lecture series on the evening high school program.

Dr. Ververka, said Mrs. Weston, spent a year in Europe, studying the public school systems there, and has many interesting comparisons of methods and subject matter to offer.

A short musical program will be provided by the Santa Ana elementary schools.

Objections To Be Answered By Parrott Tonight

"Since opening this campaign and offering the 'prayer of faith' for sick people, which is strictly scriptural, a great many objections have been raised by certain religious leaders and unbelievers against this healing ministry," Evangelist Everett B. Parrott, now conducting services in a tent at First street and Orange avenue said today. "I propose to answer the objections and their objections publicly tonight in the tent meeting. My answers will be entirely from the Bible." He said he believed the power of God as great today as when Jesus walked the shores of Galilee.

Attendance at the big tent has continued increasing until now overflow crowds packed the tent night after night, it is said.

On Thursday night Evangelist Parrott will preach a sermon on Bible prophecy entitled, "The United States in Bible Prophecy." He says that he will show where the NRA "blue eagle" is mentioned in the Bible and will show that it is not an American bird. He further declares that the future of the United States is told in the Bible and that he will bring it to light in his sermon. All evening services begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Y. W. CAMPAIGN TOTAL FIGURE NOW $1840.66

Efforts on the part of more than 150 Santa Ana women have boosted the Y. W. C. A. drive to $1840.66, the amount reported yesterday noon at the second report luncheon.

Mrs. Franklin West and Mrs. J. F. Burke were awarded prizes for the first day's highest standing, and Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman and Mrs. Wendel Finley stood highest in the second day's tally. The Rev. Perry F. Schrock offered invocation and benediction at Tuesday's luncheon. J. E. Burke inspired the "Y" workers with an informal talk. He congratulated the women upon their efforts and sent them on their campaign work with a brighter feeling for their task, that of co-laboring with the people of Santa Ana in building the kingdom of God in the world.

Women of the First Christian church served Tuesday's luncheon.

DANIEL GREEN COMFY SLIPPERS For WOMEN

Young Couple Return From Honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead

Returning from a honeymoon spent in Lake Arrowhead, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wayne Crumrine are pleasantly established in a home at 1118 North Syracuse street, where they are receiving congratulations of a host of friends upon their recent marriage.

Mrs. Crumrine was Miss Wanda Prather, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Butterfield, 1115 W. Myrtle street. Her marriage to Mr. Crumrine, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Crumrine, 707 Spurgeon street, was an event of Saturday, November 10, in the First M. E. bride chapel, with the Rev. George A. Warner officiating. Golden yellow chrysanthemums were used in decorating the altar.

It was a morning service of charming simplicity, attended by members of the two families and a few intimate friends. The bride wore a modish outfit of navy blue with black dress accessories, completed by a corsage bouquet of talliesman roses and sweet peas. She was attended as honor matron by her cousin, Mrs. Thomas Chapman, who as Iris Johnson, was a bride of late January. Ernest Crumrine was his brother's best man.

Following the rites, Mrs. Butterfield was hostess at a reception complimenting the new Mr. and Mrs. Crumrine in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Cheryl Johnson, 1217 South Parton street. Many flowers gave a gala effect to the scene, and light refreshments were served. Congratulations were extended to the young couple before their departure for Lake Arrowhead.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Crumrine attended Santa Ana high school. Mr. Crumrine is employed with the Signal Oil company. Their friends have been complimenting them at a series of pleasant parties since their engagement and wedding plans were announced, and there are plans for other affairs as post-nuptial courtesies.

Past Presidents Have Celebration Of Member's Birthday

During their monthly meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Henry Helmer, 1061 West Third street, Past Presidents' club members of Calumet Auxiliary, U. S. W., celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Katherine Reagan.

In addition to receiving greeting cards and gifts, Mrs. Reagan was presented with a birthday cake. This, with other dainties, formed a dessert course served shortly after guests arrived. Decorations were in keeping with a holiday theme.

Although she had been a member of the club for some time, Mrs. Reagan was put through formal initiation ceremonies which had been postponed from an earlier date. Mrs. Bertha Dixon conducted the business meeting.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party at the next meeting, Monday, December 17, at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Erickson, West Sixth street. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge. Prizes were awarded. Medallions May Glaze and Elva Hunt, who scored first and second high.

Those present were Mesdames Bertha Dixon, Estelle Dresser, Elizabeth Erickson, May Glaze, Edna Hannah, Elva Hunt, Katherine Reagan, Nannie Reed, Emma K. Wasson, and a special guest, Mrs. Eleanor Shaw, with the hostess, Mrs. Helmer.

Junior Ebell Starts Organization Of Household Group

Organization of a Household Economics section for Junior Ebell society is under way as the result of a meeting held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. John K. Norton, 1620 North Baker street.

It was decided that the group will meet the third Monday in each month. Election of officers is scheduled for the next meeting, Monday, December 17 at 2 p. m. in the home of Miss Loretta Spangler, East Santa Clara avenue.

Mrs. William Jerome was co-hostess with Mrs. Norton. In serving refreshments at the afternoon's close, they had assistance of Miss Betty Blondie, who poured tea.

Present were Mesdames Robert Heffner, Virgil Harman, Raymond Terry, Kemper Taylor, and the Misses Loretta Spangler, Isabelle Blondie, Betty Blondie and the hostesses, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Jerome.

The sewing committee for Sycamore Rebekah lodge will meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. with Mrs. Joe Prevost, 465 Third street, Tustin.

This week's lecture under auspices of adult education department Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in Frances Willard auditorium will be by Dr. Madeline Veverka of Los Angeles. She will make a comparison between American and European school systems.

Emma Sansone chapter U. D. C. will have a cooked food sale and bazaar all day Saturday at 309 North Syracuse street.

Episcopal Church of the Messiah Welfare branch will meet Friday at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. S. R. Byler, 512 Bush street.

Damascus White Shrine will have a card party, with refreshments, following a meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in Masonic temple.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
THIS FROCK'S SHORT ON SEWING—LONG ON STYLE
PATTERN 2069
BY ANNE ADAMS

Here's a trimly tailored school dress, short on sewing and long on style! What would have greater appeal for the girl who is learning to sew? Don't you like its nicely pointed yoke and the way it buttons, high up on one shoulder? The inverted pleats, back and front, are both smart and comfortable. Make it up in a rough orange wool—for a splash of under-the-coat brightness—and use white pique for the cunning collar and cuffs. Perhaps you prefer the plain neckline and the contrasting yoke shown in the tiny sketch. Choose either—and use long or short sleeves—as you prefer.

Pattern 2069 is available in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 10 takes 1 3/4 yards 54 inch fabric and 3/4 yard 36 inch contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

State Chairman Arts And Crafts Addresses Clubwomen

Privileged to entertain Miss Leta Horlocker, chairman of arts and crafts in California Federation of Women's Clubs as guest speaker yesterday, members of Santa Ana Woman's club spent a pleasant afternoon at their session in Veterans' hall.

Mrs. F. B. Hornbeak, program chairman for the day, had secured the speaker, and also arranged additional entertainment of music. Her introduction of Elizabeth Wright, well-known young violinist of the Southland, a pupil of Ollinae Enlow Matthews, and Mary Batten Steffenson of this city, her accompanist, followed immediately after the opening session conducted by Mrs. R. G. Carman, club president.

Miss Wright played two numbers very beautifully, "Spanish Serenade," by Valdez, and "Oriental," by Cesare Cui.

Following the afternoon's talk by Miss Horlocker were two songs by a boys' chorus conducted by Lorene Croddy Graves. The little lads sang delightfully "Little Jack Horner" and "The Old Gray Robe," a Negro spiritual.

Miss Horlocker sounded a note of intimacy in her talk, dwelling upon her personal reactions to beauty in the home, and emphasizing how those reactions are general. She told of the ease with which beauty may be introduced with the simplest of materials, and illustrated her talk with examples of block printing, batik, tooled leather and other crafts. These were of her own work or else done under her supervision, and gave clubwomen many ideas for work to be accomplished in the Arts and Crafts section.

Proceeding the general session was a meeting of the Study section, with Mrs. R. A. McMahon, leader. The program was one of variety ranging from talks and papers on the military situation in which the world finds itself at present, to the more peaceful realms of the approaching Thanksgiving season.

Mrs. Jesse Albright talked on the munitions investigations, and devoted some time to "War Psychology in Japan." Mrs. A. N. Glancy based her short talk on "Permanent Peace." The two opposed subjects were cleverly brought together by Mrs. McMahon, who read an article on "Peace and Thanksgiving," after which Mrs. R. G. Carman read a thoughtful paper comparing the blessings shared by those of our own country with conditions in foreign countries.

Mrs. E. D. Froeschle's paper on "A Spiritual Thanksgiving" laid stress on spiritual values in contrast with material things. Mrs. McMahon announced that the Study section would take up its program on California history in December.

Second Travel Section Meets for Luncheon
Telling of a recent trip up into the Canadian mines, Mrs. Elmer Burns was speaker Monday afternoon at a meeting of Ebell Second Travel section held in the clubhouse.

The program followed a luncheon at which Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Elmer Borchard and Mrs. Harry Zaiser were hostesses. Yellow and white chrysanthemums and autumn leaves served as decorations.

Mrs. Theo Winbigler, leader, conducted the business meeting. Plans were made to have a Christmas party at the next meeting, Monday, December 17.

Special guests were Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. John Abbott and Mrs. Briggs.

Alpha Alpha Chapter Of Phi Sigma Plans Holiday Dance

On Thanksgiving eve when Alpha Alpha chapter of Phi Sigma fraternity entertains at a holiday ball at Lakewood Country club, Long Beach, it will be a very special event, for the festivity will be the eleventh annual Thanksgiving celebration staged by the chapter.

Last year, chapter members entertained in the Lakewood clubhouse, entertaining fully 50 couples at what was declared to be one of the most enjoyable parties the hosts had presented. Its success was so outstanding that this year's ball is being given in the same place. An even larger crowd is expected, as so many students will be home from colleges and universities to help swell the crowd.

Joe Lindbaum's orchestra has been secured and will furnish new and lively dance music. One of the friendly gestures of hospitality to be made by the chapter members, is the revival of the popular custom of providing gardenia corsages for all feminine guests.

Dancing will begin at 9:30 o'clock, according to the committee on arrangements, Messrs Paul Beckman, chairman, Edward Emsworth Jr. and Clark Sackman.

Country Club Members Will Dance And Dine Friday Night

The annual Thanksgiving dance, always an anticipated event at Santa Ana Country club, is scheduled for Friday night of this week, when members and their guests will dine together at the clubhouse at 7 o'clock and dance for the remainder of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McMahon, leader, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Dodds and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emison will act as hosts. Arrangements have been made for music by Chet Brandt's orchestra (colored) which has been a popular feature at the Cotton club.

This past week at the Country club was distinguished by a general club party Friday night when Mrs. J. B. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMillan and George Shattuck were hosts at an evening of contract.

Several guests were entertained, among them Mrs. Leonard Jones of Laguna Beach, a guest of Mrs. Roberts, and winner of first prize among visiting players, Mrs. Telford Thronson and Mrs. F. F. Mead scored high among members and were appropriately rewarded. Due to their success, the two, Mr. Thronson and Mr. Mead, will serve as hosts at the December bridge evening.

Newly Wedded Couple Make Trip to Catalina

After a short honeymoon trip to Catalina Island, Mr. and Mrs. John Meeler will return to Santa Ana to take up residence at 1511 West Third street, where they were married Monday evening, November 19.

Miss Irma Livesey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Livesey of Champaign, Ill., became the bride of Mr. Meeler, son of Mrs. Pearl Meeler of this city, at a quiet ceremony. The Rev. Harry Evan Owens, pastor of First Baptist church, was officiating minister.

The couple exchanged vows at 8 o'clock, with Miss Livesey's aunt, Mrs. Leona Jones, of this city, giving her in marriage. The bride wore her traveling suit, a cerise ensemble, with a bouquet of carnations.

Mrs. Pearl Meeler served wedding cake following the ceremony, which was attended by a little group of relatives and close friends.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Santa Ana High school, is employed with Weber's bakery. The new Mrs. Meeler attended Illinois State university at Urbana, Ill. She came here recently from the east, and has been moving her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Livesey, 1618 West Second street.

Sorority and Guests Enjoy Progressive Dinner Party

Staging a progressive dinner party with their escorts as special guests, members of Pi Theta Chi sorority were hostesses at a recent event which started in the home of Miss Frances Roberts, 514 South Lyon street.

After Miss Roberts had served fruit cocktail, the group continued to the home of Miss Carol Smith, 2287 North Flower street, for a salad course. The young people enjoyed the main course in the home of Miss Winifred Schneider, Garden Grove, where small tables were centered with candles.

The remainder of the evening was spent in the home of Miss Mary Alice White, 318 South Lyon street. Earthquake bridge was played. Low scores held by Mrs. Curtis Youel and William Friend entitled them to first prizes. Mrs. Corwin Frazee and Lloyd Mander, who scored high, were consoled. Miss White served a dessert course for refreshments, carrying out a Thanksgiving idea.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Youel, the Misses Winifred Schneider, Peggy Tadlock, Mary Louise Niedergall, Helen Mander, Frances Roberts, Betty Niedergall, Martha Sharpley, Mary Alice White, Vivian White, Carol Smith; Messrs. Lloyd Mander, George Daws, Bernard Sharpley, Lawrence Barnhardt, Max Bush, William Friend, Harry Buckmaster, Frank Mansur, Bud Patterson, Richard White.

Lathrop Students Have Annual Reception
Seventh and low eighth grade classes of Julia Lathrop Junior High school held their annual reception for class members, their parents and teachers last week in the school.

Mrs. Grace Wolff was chairman of the program committee. Ralph Pasenkopp, student body president, was in charge, introducing officers of the L. X. L. boys' organization, of the Ever Girls' club and members of the safety committee, Albert Wright and Luramane Kent. H. G. Nelson, principal, extended welcome to the guests.

David Craighead, low 7 student, opened the program with a piano solo, followed by a short skit "Appreciation of Books" given under direction of Miss Pearl Nicholson. In the cast were Anna Ullrich, Ruth Shafer and Stanley Belser. Another playlet, "Jane's Books," directed by Mrs. Wolff, was given by a cast composed of Jane Farrell, Bill Elder, Jack Forney, Lois Ernst, Patricia Edge, Martha De Rouillac, Beverly Eckles, Jay Engle, Doris Fowler.

Numbers were presented by the Lathrop Hill Billies, Eugene Cloyes, Peggy Holloway, Patsy Miller, Joanne Winters, Clessa Burks, June Sewell, Gordon Wilde, Howard Ryan, Henry Cornell, Eugene Hamaker, Don Hamaker, directed by Mrs. Maxine Bryte.

The Misses Henrietta Foster and Mildred Tummond, of the teaching faculty, had decorated the school with bouquets of flowers.

Card Party Introduces B. P. O. E. Party Plan of Winter

Introducing their plan of monthly social affairs for their wives and friends, members of Santa Ana B. P. O. E. last night received a large crowd of interested card players at the bridge party at which they were hosts in the main chapter room of the clubhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Johnson, heading the host committee, were among those receiving guests and directing play. Both contract and auction bridge were played, and prizes were awarded in each group.

Mrs. James Harding and Mrs. Gotthard took first and second contract prizes, with the men's gifts awarded to W. A. Proctor and Earl Morrow for similar high scores. The lucky prize in this group was won by Mrs. William Garvin.

Among auction players, first prizes were secured by Mrs. S. P. Sorenson and P. G. Beissel, with second high scores made by Mrs. E. R. Majors and M. R. Baker, and lucky prize awarded J. G. White.

There were additional entertainment features, one of the pleasantest being the numbers given by the Elks' Double quartet. As a conclusion to their hospitality, the hosts served pumpkin pie with cheese and coffee.

Those who attended were equally interested in plans for the December 18. They will have assistance of Harold Brown, general social chairman, and Mrs. Brown. There will be a 6 o'clock dinner and "family party," and the subsequent hours will be divided between a vaudeville program, a Christmas tree where Santa Claus will distribute 10-cent gifts brought by each guest, and dancing to round out the amusement program.

Class Takes Part in Surprise Celebration

Mrs. J. L. Porter's birthday anniversary was celebrated Saturday afternoon when her Sunday school class of United Presbyterian church took part in a surprise affair in her home, 1207 Spurgeon street. The celebrant's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter and daughter Carolyn of Orange had planned the party.

Among those present were the Rev. Milford Tidball, class teacher, under whose leadership the group was organized about 25 years ago, and two charter members, Mrs. William Smart and Mrs. Sarah M. Skiles.

The afternoon was spent in reminiscing and in playing games. Mrs. Porter was presented with gifts including a cyclamen plant. She received a decorated birthday cake from her son, J. L. Porter, which was served with other refreshments at the tea hour.

Taking part in the event with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter and their daughter, Carolyn Porter, were the honoree, Mrs. J. L. Porter and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Milford Tidball, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ratty, Messrs. and Mesdames J. T. Kell, and S. H. Finley; Mesdames William Smart, John McFadden, Flora Skiles, Sarah M. Skiles, Hilda Collins, Mary Elgie, William Smith, Ella Lockhart, Martha Borland, Loretta Cash, and the Misses Minnie Cowan, Martha Smith, Myra Gibson, Mary Miller and Margaret Pollock.

Parent-Teachers
Miss Eloise Hafford of the Ruth School for Girls was speaker Tuesday afternoon at a monthly meeting of Franklin P. T. A. held in the school.

Other program features were presented by students. Fourth grade pupils of Miss McFarland gave a demonstration of their studies on Mexico. Mrs. Earl Patterson, president, was in charge of the business.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mary Beasley and two first grade mothers, Mrs. Myrtle Stinson and Mrs. Everett Jiles.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner
1 cup oyster broth
3 fried oysters with
3 Tbsps. mashed carrot
3 Tbsps. string beans
Serving of cabbage slaw
Baked apple
Clear tea or black coffee.
Calory total, 450.

A half-pint of big oysters will make broth for six. Clip the oysters into quarters, and parboil with a spoonful of butter and a little water, add to hot uncreamed milk and season to taste.

Cream of Chestnut Soup
2 cups chestnut meal
2 cups boiling water
1 tsp. dried onion
1-4 cup finely chopped celery heart

1 bay leaf and sprig of parsley tied together (remove later)
Paprika and salt to taste
1 quart hot milk thickened with 8 tsp. butter blended with 2 Tbsps. flour.

Cook a quart of chestnuts in boiling water 30 minutes, drain and leave in cold water until cool enough to handle, then strip off shells and peel the kernels. Run through the food chopper and cook with the 2 cups of water, celery and other seasonings until quite soft. Take out the bay leaf and parsley and add the puree to the milk thickened with butter and flour.

A spoonful of whipped sour cream in the bottom of the soup cup adds flavor to this soup.

Chestnut Turkey Dressing
Cook 1-2 quarts chestnuts, shell as directed in soup recipe and run through food grinder. The recipe calls for 4 cups of ground chestnut meal. To this add 2-3 cups soft crumbs, 2-3 cup melted butter or substitute, grated onion (2 Tbsps.), salt and pepper. Mix dry, then add thin cream and mix with your hands until the mass is pliable and soft. Do not fill the bird too full. Dressing steams with the bird and needs room.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Stewed Meat Balls
2 pounds hamburger mixed with 1 pound lean ground pork
1 cup cold mashed potato mixed with
1 cup bread crumbs
Seasonings:
2 level tps. salt
1 tsp. black pepper
1-2 tsp. each, ground cloves, nutmeg, allspice and ginger
1 tsp. brown sugar
2 beaten eggs mixed with milk to make a soft mass

Put the two meats, crumbs and mashed potato into a mixing bowl, sprinkle with all the seasonings and use the 2 eggs beaten with milk to fill the cup, to mix the mass for moulding. More milk will be needed, for the mixture must be soft. Form into small balls, roll in flour and fry until brown, transfer to a baking dish and pour over them 2 cups top milk mixed (cold) with a pinch of soda. Cover and bake in a slow oven 45 minutes. Serve with the meat balls, baked potatoes and spinach.

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

Mussolini Stoops to Conquer

Baby-kissing, long recognized by American political candidates as a good builder-upper of popularity, seems equally indispensable in Fascist Italy. Here's Dictator Mussolini stooping to kiss a little Black Shirt during a recent visit to Sabaudia.

U. S. Girl Held by Germans

Although Isobel Lillian Steele, shown above with her mother, Mrs. Clara Steele of Hollywood, Cal., has been held for three months in a Berlin prison, the State Department at Washington, D. C., announces it cannot intervene to obtain her release. No charges have been made public, but it is said she expressed anti-Nazi sentiments that are considered "very serious." A speedy trial is promised.

Derby Day

It wouldn't have been an election without Alfred E. Smith's famous brown derby appearing at the polls in New York City. Here's the former presidential candidate making the occasion official by signing up for his ballot.

Pick Beauties in Bunches

Once upon a time some one suggested selecting a Beauty Queen. The idea was so good everyone started to do it. Now they have to be picked in bunches to get attention. Here are the three most beautiful showgirls, selected to represent America in a Pageant of All Nations in New York. Left to right are Harriet Byers, Ann Graham and Mary Yellent.

First Democrat Negro Victor

The first negro ever elected to Congress on the Democratic ticket, Arthur W. Mitchell, above, will represent the First Illinois district. Mitchell, Chicagoan, defeated Oscar DePriest, Republican, in the Nov. 6 landslide. He is a former student of Tuskegee, Harvard, and Columbia.

Infant in Arms

Premier Mussolini's plan to start the military training of Italian boys when they are eight years old was epitomized in this scene at the 13th annual celebration of the march on Rome that elevated him to power. A Fascist official is shown presenting a rifle to a member of the Balilla, young Fascist organization, while Mussolini looks on approvingly from the black draped platform.

New Style Tickle's Cecilia

Like it? Why, Cecilia Parker, youthful movie player, was tickled half to death by her new chapeau. It's a formal version of the Tyrolean hat, the black velvet crown stitched in gold threads. And you can play peek-a-boo any time through the loop of that fetching feather.

He's Champion Corn Husker

A young Minnesota farmer is the world's champion corn husker, Ted Balko, 23, above, of Redwood Falls, slipped 25.7 bushels of corn against the bangboards in 30 minutes to annex the crown. The national championship contest was held near Fairmont, Minn., with a crowd of 50,000 following the competitors. Balko had placed second, third, fourth and fifth in previous attempts at the title.

No Name Like Her Own Name

Britain offers this girl as the child star of its enlarged movie world. She's Nova Pilbeam. Recently, the British movie houses and newspapers held a contest among Nova's fans for a "screen" name that would fit her personality. Hundreds of names were suggested, but Nova and her advisers decided finally that her own name sounded best.

Pleas Own Case

Instead of planning escape, James McFarland, Polson prisoner sentenced to 50 years, devoted his spare time to studying law. He was rewarded when he wrote his own brief, pleaded his own case and won a new trial through a writ of error.

Bring Tall Family Tree to Films

If family trees are any help in the Hollywood climb, these Atlanta, Ga., twin debutantes should go high and far. Margot and Mary Sage are in the film capital, determined to crash the pictures. They're daughters of Ira Sage III, construction firm head, granddaughters of the Southern Pacific railroad builder, grandnieces of Russell Sage, financial power of the 90s, and great-grandnieces of Eli Yale, founder of Yale University.

They're Real Honeymooners Now

The screen's newest newweds are Ginger Rogers and Lew Ayres, wedded in Hollywood's Little Church of the Flowers in a ceremony that brought out a colorful sprinkling of film stars. Their romance began more than a year ago on the exciting night of the earthquake that rocked southern California.

Film Favorites Head for Altar

Congratulations from all moviedom showered on Ginger Rogers, dancing screen beauty, and Lew Ayres, film headliner, when Ginger's mother, Mrs. Lela Rogers, announced the couple will be wed this month in Hollywood. The betrothed pair are shown here with Mrs. Rogers. The bride-to-be is 23 and Ayres is 26. Both have been married before and divorced.

THE TINYMIES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The castle baker said, "Well, tots, I have a hunch that we'll have lots of fun, if you will just behave, and not start pulling tricks."

"Most tots are full of devilment, I hope that is not your intent. I wonder if it's safe to let you watch while dough I mix?"

"Of course it is," said Doty. "We will be as good as we can be. Why, we might even help you with the work you have to do."

"Please tell us what you're going to make. Gee, I just hope it is a cake," the baker answered. "You'll find out, as soon as I am through."

"Now, come into the kitchen and perhaps I'll let you lend a hand," the Tinnies gladly followed him, a smile on each one's face.

"Now, first of all," the baker said, "I'll get a bowl, then go ahead and in it mix a lot of things I keep around this place."

Wee Goldy found a big flour bin and promptly dipped the sifter in, and brought it forth, full to the top. "Do you want this?" asked she.

"Of course I do, and maybe more. Say, I'll bet you've mixed dough before," replied the kind old baker. "You're a great big help to me."

The bowl stood on a table where wee Duncy'd pushed a little chair. "I have a front row seat," said he, "where I can watch the fun."

"I love to hear the sifter shake the flour that may become a cake. Or possibly 'twill be plain bread, when it is cooked till done."

The next thing that poor Duncy knew, the funny baker sneezed. "Ker-choo!" Some of the flour flew into air and Duncy was a sight.

"I'm sorry I was indiscreet. You're covered, lad, from head to feet," exclaimed the sorry baker. "Every bit of you is white."

La Habra City Hall Work To Start Next Week

COUNCIL OPENS MATERIAL BIDS TUESDAY NIGHT

LA HABRA, Nov. 21.—Bids on materials for the construction of La Habra's new city hall will be opened by the city council next Tuesday evening. City Engineer J. B. Banks reported at the last regular meeting that all of the plans have been completed. The building will cost $15,500. Work is expected to start next week.

Property owned by the city includes one complete block in length and measures 210 by 145 feet. The fire station, which was completed about three years ago, occupies the northwest portion of the property, while the recently completed Memorial hall is on the east lot of the property. The city hall will be of Spanish architecture and will be placed on the west lot of the property, facing the city garage to face the alley of the property.

The city hall will be 62 by 77 in dimensions overall and provides for a council chamber 22 by 40 feet as the main part of the building. The office of the city clerk and water departments will occupy the west wing of the building. These offices will be 19 by 27, with reinforced concrete vaults 8 by 11 feet. Plans also show offices for the city judge in the west wing. The east wing will be given over to the engineering department with the engineers' office 16 by 20 feet. There will be a reinforced concrete vault 6 by 10 feet.

The police department and city hall will also be in the west wing. The police quarters will be 18 by 18 feet with 6 by 6 foot vault. The jail will be 17 by 23, providing for two cells, one to accommodate four men and one two men. Walls and floors of the jail will be of reinforced concrete and the ceiling will be of solid steel plates, welded. All modern equipment will be installed including proper lighting and ventilation.

Other business of the council included the opening of sealed bids on insurance on the city's fleet of motor vehicles. Bids were received from R. H. Drake, O. T. Stephens and H. O. Price, all of La Habra. The bids were referred to the finance committee.

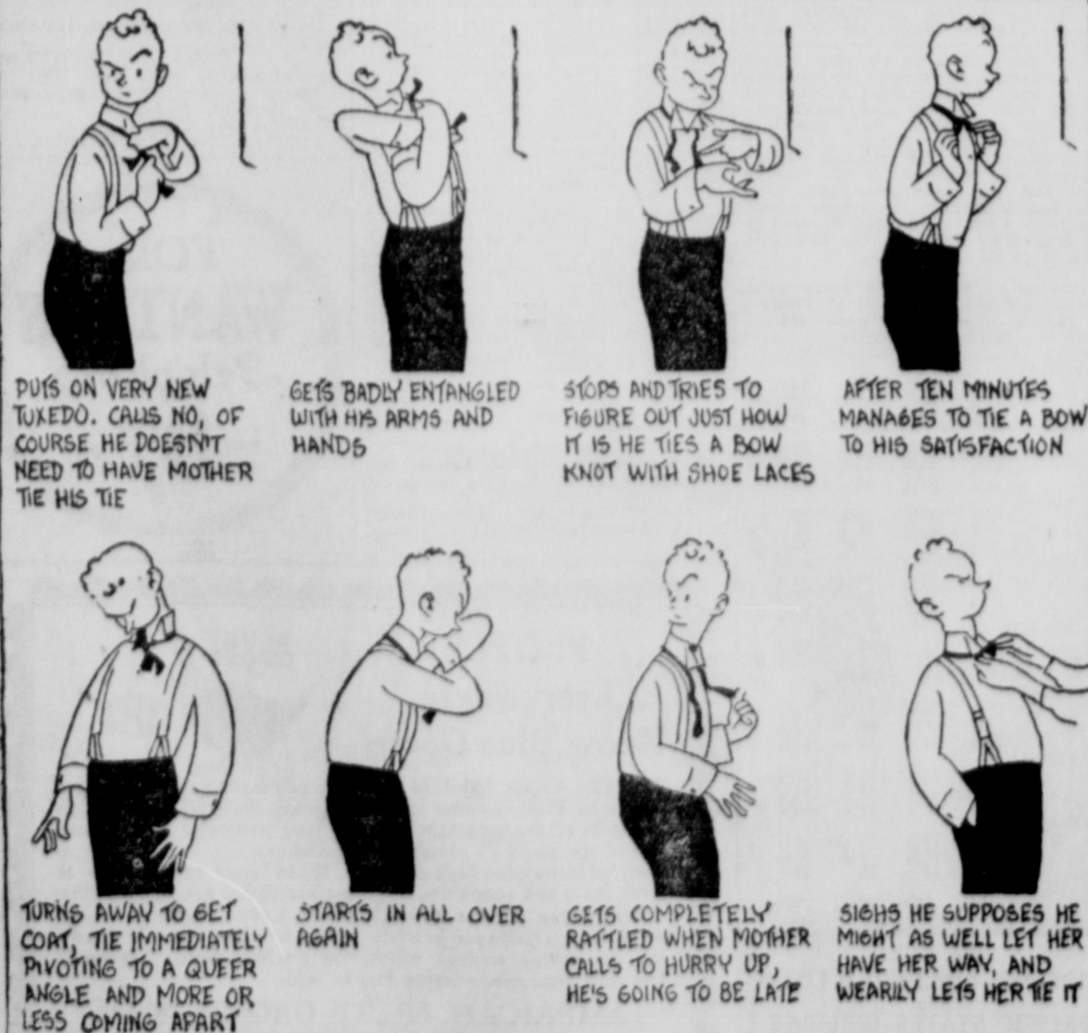

Frank Newman, a resident of La Habra street in the northeast section of the city, appeared before the council with a group of other property owners in that location, and asked the council to aid them in preventing the storm water from flooding their property. La Habra street is owned jointly by the city and county and residents claimed much damage during the recent heavy rainfall from mud and water flowing over their lots. This matter was referred to the street committee.

Report of the water department for the month of October, 1934, showed a balance in the operating fund on October 1 of $2,273.53. Water sales in October totaled $1,856.21.

Laguna Beach to Hold Community Service Nov. 29

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 21.—The Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, pastor of the Presbyterian Community church, today announced that arrangements have been completed for holding the customary community Thanksgiving service on the morning of Thanksgiving day, at the Presbyterian church. The service will begin at 9 o'clock sharp and will last for an hour.

In addition to the reading of the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation, and a sermon by the pastor, the program will feature two vocal solos by Mrs. Lauretta Chilton and a violin selection by Miss Merle Swingle.

Arrange Funeral Of Alfred Berry

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 21.—Funeral services for Alfred Berry, 80, who died this week at an Orange hospital, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Dixon chapel in Costa Mesa, with the Rev. Russell Cartwright, Stroup officiating. Interment will be in Westminster Memorial park.

Berry, who was a native of England, had lived in this country for 50 years, the last ten of which he had spent at the home of his son, John L. Berry, at 119 Agate avenue, Balboa Island. Besides his son, John, he is survived by one other son, William, of Bakersfield. Music for tomorrow's services will be furnished by Andrew Mandery, accompanied by Mrs. Mandery.

Hold Last Rites For Mesa Woman

COSTA MESA, Nov. 21.—A last mass was sung in the Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel at Newport Beach, Monday, for Mrs. Helen Olga Volk, 48, who passed away at her Fairview avenue home November 15. Father P. J. Barry was in charge of the ceremony. A rosary was said over the body at the Dixon Funeral home in Costa Mesa at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

The deceased, a native of France, had lived in the United States for 30 years, 22 years of which time had been spent in California. Mrs. Volk came to Costa Mesa with her family 18 years ago. She is survived by a son, Joseph, and a daughter, Yvonne.

Soil Erosion To Be Center Topic

TUSTIN, No. 21.—"Farm Soil Erosion and the Government's Program to Prevent It" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Harry Reddick, director of the Federal Soil Erosion service, at the regular meeting of the Tustin Farm center meeting at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the high school cafeteria. Carl Young, president, will preside.

Community singing will be led by Frank Pierce, of Santa Ana, and Frank Latham will give the director's report. Preceding the program there will be a potluck supper at 4:30 p. m. The center will furnish meat, coffee, rolls and dessert, and those attending are asked to bring a covered dish or salad. Every one is welcome to attend.

Cast of 17 Harbor High Students to Present Play Friday Night

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 21.—Plans have been completed for Friday night's presentation of the fifth annual student body play of Newport Harbor union high school, "Growing Pains." The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock on the production, which has 17 in its cast. The part of the 17-year-old hero of the play, whose hectic career amounts to one romance after another, is played by Jerry Payne, popular high school senior, who is remembered for his portrayal of the "Youngest" in last year's school play of that name. The part of the hero's 15-year-old sister, who doesn't want to grow up to be a lady, but would rather play baseball with the boys, will be enacted by Miss Gail Green.

Madeline Strain will portray the young and sophisticated Fredence, temporary "heartache" of the hero. Members of the faculty active in producing the play are: Miss Dorothy Tully, director; Miss Evelyn Davis, business manager; Arthur Worden, properties. The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Marie Hiesch, will provide the overture and intermission music.

Included in the cast for Friday's performance will be Merton Schmolke, Professor McIntyre; Leona Roth, playing Mrs. McIntyre; Eleanor Brooks, Mrs. Patterson; Betty Dodge, Elsie Patterson; Gilman Brookings, playing Dutch; Warren Kennedy as Brian; Richard Briggs as the son of Omar; Bill Bushard as Hal; Dorothy Gabriel, Patty; Yvonne Wallace, Pame; Ruby Frank Jones, Miriam; Patty Whitson, Vivian; Kiyoko Bango as Mitsa and Wallace Ross, traffic officer.

Church Dinner Set for Friday

LA HABRA, Nov. 21.—The La Habra Methodist church will have its annual five dollar banquet Friday night in the Woman's clubhouse and Dr. E. E. Helms, former pastor of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles is to be the principal speaker of the evening.

Louis E. Plummer of the Fullerton Union High school will act as toastmaster. A program of music is planned.

Postpone Laguna Festival Meeting

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 21.—Because of lack of a quorum, there being but seven members present, no business could be conducted at the adjourned annual meeting of the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts association which had been set for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Capt. George A. Portus, holding office as president until a new executive is elected, announced a postponement of the adjourned meeting until Monday evening, December 3, at 7:30 o'clock at the chamber offices.

WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

Mrs. Olive Chasler of 1490 Union St., San Bernardino, Calif., said: "Woman's weakness caused me much suffering. My feet and hands would swell, and my nerves were bad. I was sleepless and often had sick-headaches. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and noticed a remarkable change. I felt so well I knew I was back to normal health."

New size, tablets 90 cts., liquid $1.00. Large size, tablets or liquid, $1.35. "We Do Our Part."

NEEDY FAMILIES TO GET BASKETS

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 21.—Plans for the distribution of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families were made at a dinner meeting of the Esther guild society in the Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening. A box will be placed at the church for collection of food stuffs, which must be in by next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. In charge are Mrs. Mary Bradley, Mrs. Francella Goddard and Mrs. Helen Holt.

Miss Lova Holt and Miss Velda Barnes reported on their visit and delivery of fruits to the Frances De Pau school in Los Angeles. Mrs. Laura Sprinkle was in charge of the mite box opening. Mrs. Francella Goddard read a play, "What the Mites Do." After a Thanksgiving prayer had been read by Mrs. Niota Sparks, a piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Helen Edwards. The hostess committee consisted of Mrs. Grov-

It was an odd looking group gathered in Kate Hewlett's kitchen. Mrs. Hewlett, with a white apron tied over her gray flannel bathrobe, moved from the stove to the table, her heelless felt bedroom slippers flopping as she walked. Her gray hair hung in a pigtail down her back and about her forehead was a halo of curl papers.

Juliet France, wrapped in a rose silk negligee, sat near the table. Her eyes scarcely left David Bannister's face. He was still wearing his topcoat and he stood in the doorway, almost filling it. The kitchen was brightly lighted but outside it was dark. The hands of the clock on the wall pointed to 10 minutes past four o'clock.

"You sit down," Juliet said to Mrs. Hewlett, "and let me pour the coffee." She arose, holding a chair forward for the older woman. Kate Hewlett eased herself into the seat. "All right, Juliet," she said. "The cups are on the shelf behind you. Now then, David, I want you to tell us the straight of this—"

"He rested his arms on the table. 'I'll go over the whole thing once more,' he said. 'But this is the last time! I'd like to get a little sleep before it's time to get up again.'"

"People can sleep any time!" his aunt said tartly. "But they don't catch a murderer every day in the week—and I suppose I should thank the Lord for that! I don't see how anybody could sleep with such excitement going on. To think you solved the murder!"

"Oh, no," Bannister objected. "Not quite that. McNeal and the detectives did the real work. I just played a hunch and Juliet helped—"

PROGRAM HELD BY MEMBERS OF MESA LEAGUE

COSTA MESA, Nov. 21.—Members of the Community Church Epworth league and others, to the number of 200, met in the main auditorium of the church this week in celebration of the seventeenth anniversary of the founding of the Epworth league here. Woodrow Cooper was the principal speaker.

The evening's program opened with an organ and piano duet by Mrs. Veda Thompson and Miss Marion Nelson. David Withall and Avenell Nelson were in charge of the decorations and Jack Wilson directed in community singing. Wilson also sang a sacred number. Miss Wanda Thompson, accompanied by Mrs. Thompson at the organ and Miss Marion Nelson at the piano, gave the offertory number. Miss Thelma Allen, first vice president of the local league, presided during the services.

The services were preceded by a 5:30 o'clock dinner in the social hall of the church. Jack Wilson, president of the league, was master of ceremonies during the dinner hour. He introduced the Rev. W. I. Lowe as toastmaster of the evening. Among those giving toasts were L. G. Swales of Santa Ana; the Rev. John Engle of Huntington Beach; the Rev. Grov S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dudek, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Madeira, Mrs. Donald Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman, senior counsel of the organization here; Ed Bennett, Earl Wintersbourne, Herbert McMurtry and Chisholm Brown.

Wassum, Leulah Hamilton and W. H. Thompson were named as the December social committee. The visiting committee is composed of Mesdames Hazel Cady, Clara Blackwell and Beth Brader.

had checked up on the time when those telephone calls came. "Then when I found out King had been trying to blackmail you" (he looked at Juliet) "it came to me he might have played the game more ways than one. I asked McNeal to check up on Coleman's bank account. We found out he'd been withdrawing larger amounts regularly during the last year. Amounts much larger than he'd ever drawn before."

"That fitted in with the blackmail idea but, as for the murder, I hadn't anything at all to go on except my hunch. I couldn't prove Parker Coleman killed Tracy King because he'd been blackmailing him, I couldn't even prove he had blackmailed him. I kept thinking about the gun Coleman used—if he had used it—and what he could have done with it. What Juliet had said about a window box kept sticking in my head. It seemed silly but I couldn't forget it. And then when I met Matthew Hollister on the street yesterday the whole thing came to me like a flash."

"I figured if I could convince Coleman we had enough on Hollister to pin the two crimes on him, except for the missing gun, Coleman would supply that. Oh, I gave him every chance! I knew that if I was right about it he'd bring the gun with him when we went to search the apartment and then hide it."

"McNeal had the two policemen waiting, ready to come in with Hollister after we'd been in the apartment half an hour. There was one thing I hadn't figured on. I thought I'd find the revolver in the most obvious place—a desk drawer or something like that. If I came across it too soon I was going to stall. As it was, I'd barely picked the thing up before the policemen got there."

"The girl turned. 'Why, what did I do?' she asked. 'Gave me the idea that finally made Coleman confess. Don't you remember we were talking the other day about where the murderer could have hid the gun? You said something about a window box and that set me thinking. I'd figured out who the man in the old photograph looked like—Parker Coleman. The likeness is really quite striking if you forget about the mustache. Of course it couldn't be Coleman so I decided it must be some relative of his.'"

"It seemed queer for King to have a picture of anyone related to Coleman, though. That stumped me for quite a while. Of course I knew both men were in love with Denise Lang. But there was something more than that between them. Coleman hadn't accounted for the way he spent the evening King was killed, except to say he had called on Denise. She told us he was there, but she was obviously mistaken about the time. I know that because Daisy Connor, the maid, Again Bannister looked at Jul-

"It must have been a few minutes after you left," he said. The girl shook her head. "No," she said. "I'll tell you what really happened that night. I went to Tracy King's apartment to get the letters you know about. They weren't letters I'd written. My sister wrote them. Tracy King had threatened to show them to her husband if she didn't pay him $8000. Helen was nearly wild about it and asked me what she could do."

"I told her I'd get the letters back. I came to Tremont, telephoned to Tracy King and he came to the hotel to talk to me. I made him think I'd come to the apartment and he said I'd come to the letters to me. I went—but I took a revolver. I was going to make him hand over the letters or threaten to shoot."

"I hadn't been in the apartment more than a few minutes before the telephone rang. Coleman must have been hiding in there. I heard a shot and ran to see what had happened. Tracy King was lying on the floor and there was blood on his face. 'I was so frightened I forgot the letters and everything else. I ran out into the hall and shut the door. Then I went downstairs and out of the hotel. You know,' he said, looking at Bannister, 'what happened after that.'"

"He nodded. 'That's the way it was,' he agreed. 'In Coleman's confession he said he was hiding in the bedroom when King came home. He hadn't made up his mind exactly what to do when you got there. He was listening to what you were saying when the telephone rang and before he could hide again King appeared in the doorway. Coleman shot him and hid in the clothes closet. He saw you come to the doorway and then turn and leave. He took his time after that, went through King's desk and found the papers about his father. He found those letters signed 'Helen,' too, and took them with him. Afterward he burned them. He wiped everything he had touched to be sure there were no fingerprints. He was careful about everything—but one person saw him. Melvina Hollister! He may or may not have known it then, but I was fool enough to tell him! I'll always have that on my conscience. I actually asked him to talk to Melvina and see if he could find out whether she knew something that she was keeping from the police. The fear that Melvina had seen him worked on Coleman's mind until he decided he'd have to get her out of the way, too. So he went back and strangled her.'"

Kate Hewlett has listened silently through it all. Now she shook her head. "My!" she said. "I used to see Parker Coleman when he was a little boy! To think anything like this could happen in Tremont!"

Juliet raised her cup and then set it down. "Well," she said, "now that it's all settled and the murderer has confessed I guess I'd better be getting back to my parents."

"I'd love to have you stay longer," Kate Hewlett told her. "That's sweet of you," the girl said, smiling, "but you've been too good to me already. If there's an afternoon train I think I'll take it."

"Well, if you really feel you must I suppose we can't keep you. David will find out about the trains for you. Have another cup of coffee, David!"

He said, "No, I think I'll go upstairs now and turn in."

"But he won't do that. He went into the dining room and lingered, looking out the window. Dawn was only an hour or so away, but it was still dark outside. Dark as night."

Presently Juliet appeared. "Oh," she said in a surprised voice. "I thought you'd gone!"

"Come here, Juliet."

She crossed the room, looked up at him wonderingly.

"Why didn't you tell me your sister wrote those letters?"

"I couldn't tell anyone—then."

"I wish I'd known it. I—I've been a fool but I hope you can forgive me. I should have known you couldn't have had anything to do with a cheap crook like Tracy King. I should have known it without your telling me."

Warm color came into the girl's cheeks. "Now that you do know it," she said slyly, "I'm glad. I wanted you to understand—"

He interrupted her harshly. "Juliet, you can't go away so soon! There's so much I want to talk to you about, places I want to take you. Why, we've had so little time together!"

"But I'm afraid I'll have to go."

"Not right away," he urged. "I want you to stay. Aunt Kate wants you, too. Everything is going to be so different now, Juliet. Everything—"

"Different?" the girl repeated. Bannister's eyes held hers. The flush in the girl's cheeks deepened and suddenly his arms were around her. He was holding her close. "Yes," Bannister went on, "everything's going to be different from now on. Everything—except just one. I love you, Juliet. Didn't you know that? Haven't you guessed it? Oh, you're such a darling! I love you and I'll always keep on loving you. For ever and ever! Juliet—"

It was not a question, and yet it was. The girl raised her head. "For ever and ever?" she whispered.

"If you'll let me!"

Her answer was completely convincing.

CALLING CARS PROGRAM BACK ON AIR TONIGHT

The importance of cooperation between municipal, state and federal law enforcement agencies is emphasized in tonight's true to life dramatization of "Calling All Cars," a story involving a prominent motion picture actor, a society woman, a Chinese character of the underworld and a kidnapped sailor, sub-titled "1000 Pieces of Paper" and scheduled on KREG at 8 o'clock, a presentation of the Rio Grande Oil company.

The dramatization will tell how the Los Angeles police narcotic squad worked feverishly night and day to piece together the 1000 odd pieces of a torn code message. How they succeeded and how the success of their efforts sent federal agents all the way across the continent in pursuit of a narcotic trail that had long defied apprehension, will be dramatized in detail.

Captain Eddie Chitwood, head of the narcotic squad, will introduce the broadcast and explain how any narcotic case may lead to the discovery of a large, international dope ring.

Laverne Harrell TO SING TONIGHT

This week's all request program by Miss Laverne Harrell, on KREG tonight at 6:15, will offer listeners another delightful group of light classics by master composers.

Her program will include "O Cool Is the Valley Now," Ecomenich-Joyce; "The Gypsy Trail," Gallaway; "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," Cadman; and "The Virgin's Slumber Song," Regger.

Miss Harrell is heard each Wednesday at the same hour.

KREG NOTES

Another of the popular band concerts of well known march numbers is scheduled at 7:15 tonight.

GENERAL BUTLER REVEALS FASCIST
MOVEMENT IN U. S.

General Smedley D. Butler comes out with some startling statements.

He declares he was approached and offered leadership in a Fascist movement. Just how much there is in this, if anything, probably will be a matter for dispute for a long time to come. That there are organizations throughout the country dominated by the same kind of spirit that seemed to be the motivating purpose in the Hitler regime, there is no doubt.

We recall, in the early days, when we read the news concerning Hitler's propaganda and his early beginnings, we never dreamed that he would produce such a great tide of sentiment among the German people and ride on it practically to undisputed leadership and power as he did.

There is no question but that there has been a terrible fear, on the part of certain financially and politically powerful groups in this country, that the president and his advisors had turned far to the left and had lost sight of the principle embodying the sacredness of private property, of private ownership, and, as they believed, of the profit system.

Organizations of the various kinds, such as the Liberty league, the Silver Shirts, and many others had in mind meeting, by one means and another, the dangers, real or imaginary, in the minds of these people, that threatened the nation.

It is rather remarkable that some of the same forces that raise the greatest hue and cry about Americanism and the sacredness of the constitution, are only using these terms in the interest of their own ideas and against their opponents, and are perfectly willing to practise the most un-American doctrine and ignore the constitution, if it will serve their ends.

Of course just now the sentiment has changed concerning Mr. Roosevelt, among those of the upper brackets, because they feel he has either changed nearer to their ideas or that he was camouflaging his real views in order to keep the great forces of unrest within bounds.

We hope the investigation of this matter will be thorough, so that we may know the facts.

MOLEY URGES FREEING OF MOONEY

We were startled and strangely delighted in peering at the headlines this morning to see "Free Money, Urges Moley." "Is it possible it is coming to that?" we said to ourselves. We looked closer. We had misread the words. It said: "Free Mooney."

Moley, editor of "Today," and the confidant of President Roosevelt, urges upon Governor Merriam the advisability of pardoning Mooney. He is urging it, not so much on its merits, although he does admit it has merits, but rather to remove the source of irritation, so that Mooney's imprisonment can no longer be used as a means to stir up the populace.

Moley, who recently was instrumental in bringing the United States Chamber of Commerce to the support of the president, speaks throughout as though he were authoritatively representing the liberals of the country. He takes, as usual, in most of the things he has recently written on politics, a side-swipe at Sinclair.

We are rather impressed that Mooney is near his freedom. We imagine that even more conservative men than Moley, and men right here in California, will urge that Mooney be pardoned and set at liberty.

Certainly nearly 900,000 voters hoped he would be, and there are probably many who voted for Merriam, and most of those who voted for Haight, who feel the same way about it.

It is certainly a most serious reflection upon our judiciary system, in the face of the light which has been thrown upon the character of testimony used to convict Mooney that he must be freed as a part of political expediency, rather than through legal procedure based on the very clear justice of the case.

SOCIAL INSURANCE ON THE WAY

The United States is behind the most of the governments of Europe in matters of social insurance. Many of the European governments have unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and health insurance. England has a complete system.

Gradually, various states in this country have adopted something in the way of old age pensions and insurance against accidents. But for the most part, this sort of social legislation has been backward.

The depression has given the movement a great impetus. The country has become one of the greatest of industrial nations. The era of free land has passed. The problems of Europe have gradually crept in on us. So that it is not a matter of surprise that this matter has been thrust upon us.

The president's commission is ready to report to the next congress. It has agreed upon a plan for unemployment insurance; but on other forms of social insurance, there is still some difference of opinion. Ultimately, however, it is destined to come. The country cannot afford the huge public works program and the program of relief, especially if the recurring cycles of depression grow increasingly severe.

The opposition is breaking down. We have the experience of older countries to guide us. We can profit by the mistakes they have made, and the final success they have achieved. Social insurance is on the way. Many once opposed to it are coming around. Some of the leading industrialists of the country have now endorsed it.

GERTRUDE STEIN, ENIGMATIST

We claim to have some knowledge of the English language and its value as a vehicle of expression, but we confess to utter confusion before the writings of Gertrude Stein, who just now is in the country exciting the curiosity of all interested in literature.

For aught we know, Gertrude Stein may have a message and a system, but neither in her writings nor in her public statements in addresses and interviews, have we been able to find the key. In a recent interview over the radio, she answered the questions of her interviewer in even a more enigmatic way than she writes in her books.

What can one make of it, when men and women of ability stand baffled by it all? She has succeeded in getting the world curious about her, but why and how, few if any can tell us. For the present we are going to hold the whole matter in suspense. When Walt Whitman started out with his "barbaric yawp," the whole literary world held him up to ridicule. Later, he came to his own, and is now thought of by many as our one distinctively American poet.

Perhaps Gertrude Stein may rend the veil that now beclouds our eyes to what she is assumed to be, but we have grave doubts. There is nothing intelligible about what she writes now.

Greek Shorthand

Christian Science Monitor

The name that Achilles took when he hid himself among women still remains a mystery in spite of Sir Thomas Browne's assertion that he might hazard a "wide solution," but Greece, Egypt, and the British Museum have united to reveal in what system of shorthand the reporters transcribed the orations of Pericles.

In 1887 nine wax tablets covered with shorthand notes made some time during the third century B. C. were acquired by the British Museum, but all attempts to decipher them failed. Then in 1924 two third-century papyrus volumes discovered in Egypt were found to contain a longhand version of the various signs used on the tablets. The papyrus also came into the possession of the museum, and with its aid, Mr. H. J. M. Milne, of the department of manuscripts, has been able to construct an almost complete system of Greek shorthand.

Just over a century ago, a crabbled shorthand manuscript in Magdalen College, Cambridge, gave to the world the unexpected and invaluable treasure of Peppys's Diary. The elucidation of Greek shorthand is unlikely to serve mankind in any similar way. But Mr. Milne's success is none the less significant, for his researches have established the fact that Greek shorthand strongly resembles modern systems.

For centuries Greek culture has been made the fundamental basis of western education, but recently it has been maintained by some acute thinkers that the Greek genius was essentially alien to western modes of thought, and that these have been cramped and confined by being made to conform to standards that are at bottom congenial. It is therefore worth noting that the Greeks and modern western peoples, when faced with similar difficulties, should have hit on substantially the same kind of solution. The world may not have been on the wrong road since the Renaissance, after all.

Cringing Is Verboten

New York Times

Rudolf Hess, who is Hitler's assistant leader, will have nothing to do with flunkies. He threatens punishment for Nazi officials who address their superior officers with "falsche adulation." Herr Hess calls this sheer Byzantinism. By taking sufficient pains one can presumably tell where German loyalty and discipline stop and slavish Byzantinism begins. For instance, no one has so far been disciplined in Germany for suggesting that Hitler stands close to Deity or, in fact, is one with the Supreme Being. Anything beyond that would be fulsome adulation.

Germany is not the only country where the masters sometimes get sick of too much docility in the ranks. Stalin some time ago turned upon the literary men and told them to stop being proletarian lickspittles. In other fields the Kremlin occasionally invites criticism within limits, of course. In the authoritarian States, where everything goes by decree, nothing is more appropriate than an occasional decree ordering men to call their souls their own.

The Pie Vote

San Diego Union

Huey Long changes his tactics as he begins his campaign for the presidency and, as usual, he reveals a clear understanding of applied politics. Instead of kicking up his heels with the night club boys he announces with studied dignity that "Man is a fool to drink." He gives "pot likker green" the cold shoulder to get off such profound political observations as "Watch a man if he doesn't like apple pie" or "I don't smoke because cigars give me hay fever." In other words, the Louisiana Kingfish—incidentally he is trying to make it "Senator Long of Louisiana" now—bids for the national apple pie vote as he attempts to climb from the state to the national political arena. And while the press may jeer at him, shrewd politicians will not try to laugh off his antics.

Long has not contributed one constructive political idea. But he has entertained thousands of thoroughly discouraged Louisiana voters, and, according to the pie vote he only copies many an older and more dignified senator.

Brother Agnon

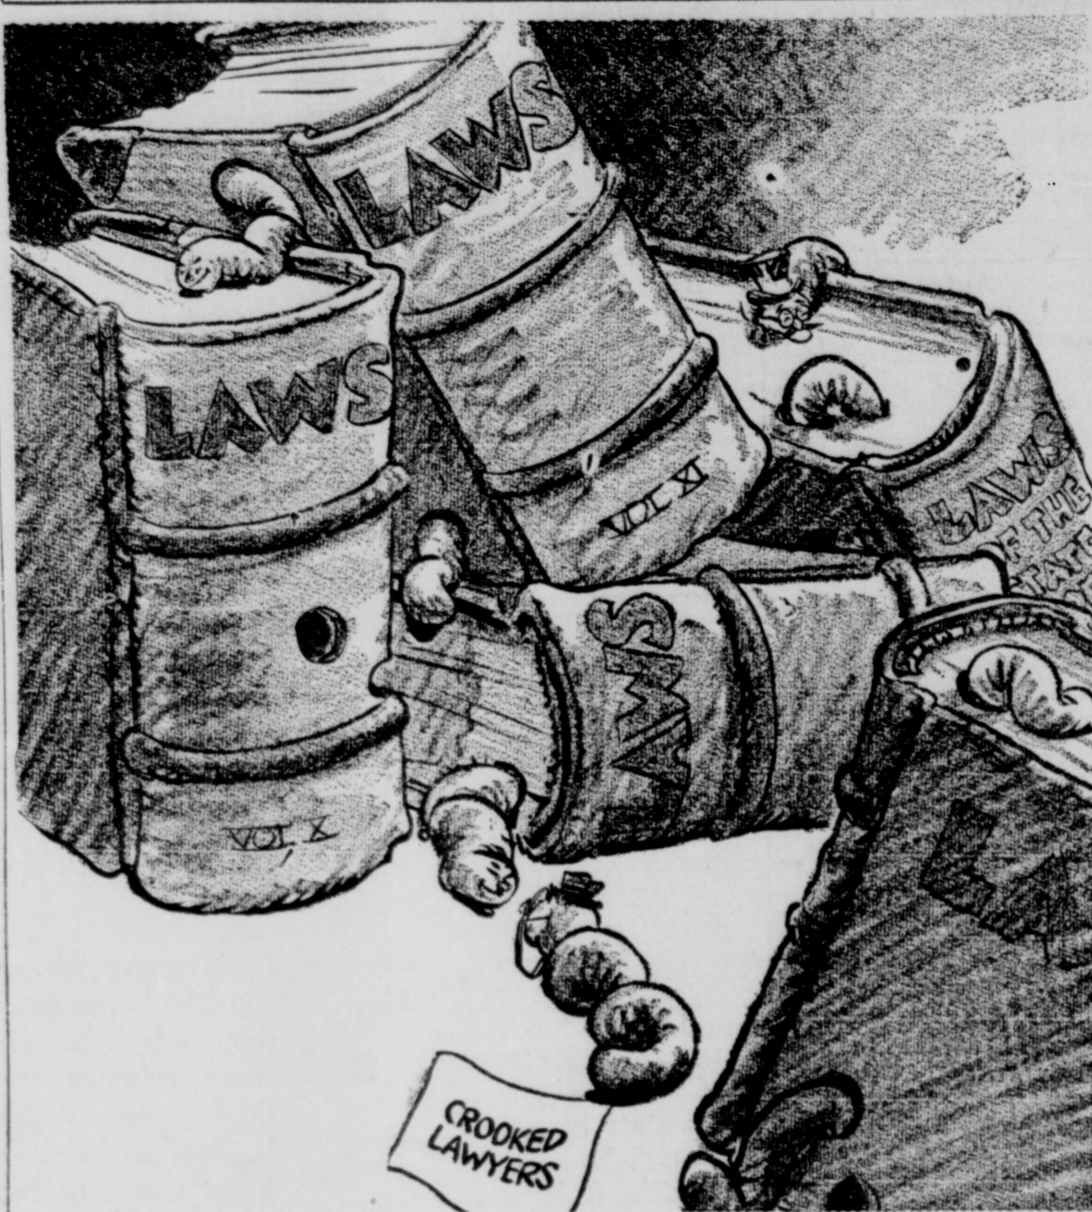

Oakland Tribune

There are men in all parts of the world, wherever graduates of St. Mary's have gone, who count among their most privileged experiences, acquaintance with Brother Agnon.

For fifty years he was a teacher in the college, growing up with it and its traditions. A genuine friend of youth he kept young with his enthusiasm for their achievements, ambitions and activities. There was no student in the college he did not know. In his head and heart was a directory of those young men who moved in and out of the institution during his many years of service. Brother Agnon knew as many men who are now prominent in the affairs of their state and nation and he had part in the shaping of their characters and careers.

St. Mary's has lost a scholarly, genial and helpful man, a true friend and inspirer of young men. The huge circle of his friends knows that his monument is one of devoted service to humanity.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

AN ALPHABETICAL PUZZLE

I know what vitamins to take
For many of my ills;
When suffering from stomach ache
Or shuddering with chills,
I call my loving helpmeet in
To make a bit of toast
And with it eat the vitamin
Which I require the most.

But all the scientists insist
This course is most unsound,
For many vitamins exist
Which have not yet been found.
If I take "B" inside a bun,
Or "D" wrapped in a pill
Some new and undiscovered one
May serve me better still.

Though vitamins are all the rage
I look on them askance;
In this experimental stage
One runs a dreadful chance.
Suppose I concentrate on "G"
When "M's" the one I need,
The consequent results to me
Might dreadful be indeed.

So I must go extremely slow,
No error must I make,
Until I positively know
Which vitamin to take.
And when that happy day appears
His blessings I shall mis-
For I'll have been, for many years,
Some other where than this.

WHY TRY?

Up to date nobody has done anything that served to popularize the stratosphere.

The deaf aren't so unfortunate. Most of our worrying is caused by the talk we hear.

In rural regions, Sunday is the day of rest for everything except the stomach.

You'll notice, however, that few inherit a taste for liquor unless they also inherit the jack to pay for it.

Life is like a trip in a car. You never seem to be going very fast if you start fast.

The greatest of human stupidities is to doubt the justice of Providence because man makes a mess of the world.

DOUBTFUL MARRIAGE IS CALLED A "MATCH" BECAUSE A LITTLE FRICTION CAN MAKE AN END OF IT.

How strange law is! It hangs those who poison bodies and ignores those who poison minds.

There's one consolation. When our soil is washed away and blown away, the Japs won't want it.

The reward of being a thrifty, shrewd and industrious farmer is that the government won't sell you a nice farm on credit.

AMERICANISM: Boasting of our independence; patiently waiting for somebody to think up a miraculous scheme to enrich us.

There is no freedom while ordinary men must shoot one another because a half-mad egoist says "Sic 'em."

Backward region: Any place where the people on relief were equally hard-up when times were good.

Manufacturers should advertise regularly. It's such a comfort to read every week that the one we have is the best.

IF HE BLAMES HIS WIFE, HE IS LYING. THE MAN WHOSE WIFE IS A HANDICAP IS ASHAMED TO ADMIT IT.

One reason why business doesn't pick up is because so few are really trying to pick up business.

Thoughts On Modern Life

SOLOMON AND PUBLIC WORKS

When I was a barefoot lad in a little Methodist Sunday school in Missouri, Solomon fascinated me.

I liked his swagger and what seemed to me his sense. He did things in the grand manner. There was a sense of amplitude and power about him. Even as a lad I wondered where he got all the funds with which to build so lavishly and to invest his reign with such splendor. But I knew so little of federal finance then that this wonder did not particularly bother my childish mind. He was to me simply a glamorous figure.

The more or less unlettered teacher told me that Solomon was a vain man and built vast structures to flatter his vanity.

As I have grown older and watched the rise and fall of leaders, I have wondered often about this teacher's interpretation of Solomon. It has not seemed to me that the men who build for vanity build for immortality. Men do not become immortals by condescension. The judgment of the ages has a way of sifting the chaff from careers.

And later study has made clear to me that Solomon was not just a swashbuckler, vain, and concerned with erecting monuments to his own glory. He faced a problem not unlike the one confronting Mr. Roosevelt. When he assumed the leadership of Israel, he found himself heading a country in economic stress and suffering from the aftermath of wars. He built up his defenses and turned a friendly face towards other nations. And then he buckled down to improve domestic economic conditions.

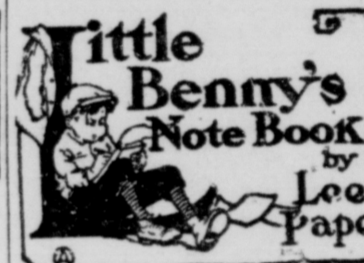

He tackled a vast program of public works. The House of the Lord—seven years in the building, his own house—thirteen years in the building, the house in the forest of Lebanon, Millo, the Wall of Jerusalem, Hazor, Mesido, Gezer, Beth-horon, Basath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, not to mention many building ventures throughout his dominion. All these seemed to me as a lad quite as fantastic and faraway as the jeweled gates and walls of the Book of Revelation. Now I know that they were part of Solomon's public works program to meet a problem of rising unemployment and falling prices. Mr. Ickes should be able to read the First Book of Kings with a fellow feeling.

Israel was a relatively poor nation, and the financing of all these public works was no simple matter. But Solomon managed to get action. He exacted tribute from the people as we now levy taxes. He had access to new supplies of gold from Ophir, and he borrowed heavily from a good creditor, Hiram, the King of Tyre, who exported capital to Solomon in return for commodities. The reign of Solomon was marked by an almost Coolidge-like prosperity. Delegations came from all countries around, as they came to the United States before 1929, to learn the secret of this Solomonic prosperity.

It is a great story. But there was an aftermath, which F. Cyril James points out, in his "The Road to Revival." By the time Rehoboam succeeded Solomon the people were chafing under the high taxes necessary to liquidate the obligations Solomon had incurred. An era of falling prices and high taxation ended in civil war and a divided kingdom.
